(By United Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific—American jungle troops have crushed the bulk of Japanese resistance at Munda, broken through main trenches on one flank and are enveloping the airfield, it was announced today.

"The major Japanese element is finished," Gen. Douglas MacArthur's spokesman reported.

Troops swinging around the western end of the field are expected to close a trap shortly on the garrison estimated at 5,000 men, a spokesman at Admiral William F. Halsey's South Pacific headquarters said, and annihilation of the Japanese force may result.

Halsey's spokesman pointed out that mopping up operations will take some time and that another Japanese force is strongly entrenched but isolated on a point of land at Baiteko harbor, 10 miles north of Munda.

American planes bombing and strafing the Munda area to blast open a way for the attacking soldiers and marines saw between 200 and 300 Japanese frantically seeking refuge in the water west of the air-

First Community Canning Center Opens In 10 Days

Mansfield housewives are due to begin large-scale preserving of their Victory garden crops within the next 10 days when the city's first community canning center goes into operation at John Simpson junior high school.

Approximately 225 women already have registered to use the canning center, and if the demand becomes too great, a second one will be opened in another part of the city, it was announced today at OCD War services headquarters.

Equipment to put the food packing center into operation has arrived and as soon as a canning instructor is obtained, the facilities will be opened to the public.

Mansfield women who have been unable to purchase pressure canners are expected to find the canning center a convenient place to preserve their beans, corn, tomatoes, beets, carrots, and fruit crops. Pressure canning equip-

Seeks More Rigid Meat Supply Check

City Health Chief Hits Sanitation In Sale and Slaughter Centers.

A city health department move to obtain more rigid regulations of the slaughter and sale of meat in Mansfield to combat the reported increasing sales of meat from non-inspected sources had been launched today after Dr. W. B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, revealed that conditions uncovered in a number of slaughter houses and retail stores in the city area are a serious health threat.

Asserting that the inspection provided by the state department of agriculture has been inadequate to meet the war-time demands, Dr. Wild said he would ask city council to enact meat inspection legislation unless the state does something soon to afford more protection for meat buyers.

The health commissioner explained that numerous meat dealers, unable to obtain enough government-inspected meat from reliable packers to supply their trade, have turned to slaughterers in the Mansfield area or have started to butcher their own meat.

That procedure opens the way for the sale of meat that has not been inspected and may have been butchered under conditions which would nauseate the consumer if he could see them, Dr. Wild said.

Meat buyers are taking a big risk when they purchase from a farmer who can't provide evidence that the meat he sells has been inspected, the health commissioner added.

"We know that meat inspection is an unpopular topic with slaughterers, retailers and even some consumers, but we need it for the protection of public health," he asserted.

Mansfield has no meat inspection ordinance, a district inspector with headquarters in Huron county providing the only protection the city has against the sale of diseased and unsanitary meat supplies.

Councilman George C. Kyle told the health commissioner that he would be willing to introduce a meat ordinance in council. Dr. Wild requested him to wait until the state has had a chance to act and then to go ahead with the pro-

Milk Producers Plan To Take Price Appeal To Washington.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Representatives of milk producers and dealers in five states today prepared to appeal to the national Office of Price Administration for an increase in milk prices.

Dairymen from Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia and Michigan decided to present their case direct to Washington after Dr. E. Welch, regional OPA price executive, informed them present OPA policy did not include over-all milk price adjustments.

"Milk price increases are imperative if the production of milk is to be maintained at the present level," J. I. Schafer of Akron, president of the Ohio Milk Producers Federation, told the meeting here yesterday.

Schafer said area representatives also would ask OPA officials to oppose milk rationing or subsidies.

Mansfielder Missing In Sicily Air Battle

Lieut. J. T. Watson Was Decorated Three Times.

Thrice decorated for bravery, First Lieut. James T. Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Watson, 85 Lind avenue, navigator aboard a Flying Fortress, today was reported missing in action over Sicily.

A communication from the war department said Lieut. Watson had been missing since July 8, two days before Allied forces swarmed over the tiny Mediterranean island.

Lieut. Watson arrived in North Africa last November. He was awarded the distinguished flying cross last December during the Tunisian campaign and a month later was awarded the air medal. He has since been awarded the oak leaf cluster to the air citation.

Before going to Africa he had been stationed in England with the army air forces and participated in the first U. S. air raid on Rouen, France, last August.

A former employe of the Ohio Brass company, he enlisted in the air force in October 1941.

Brown Praises Punishment of Gasoline Ration Violators.

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown today thanked Ohio rationing boards for their work in punishing gasoline ration violators and urged them to "hold the line with all possible vigor."

Despite progress in the synthetic rubber program, Brown said, "every caution must be exercised to conserve our essential supply of tires. Even in the non-shortage area gasoline stocks are gradually falling and gasoline shortages are beginning to appear here and there," he said.

The nation must rely upon local ration boards, acting as a "jury of one's neighbors," to enforce observance of the restriction program, he said.

Mansfield Boy, 6, Drinks Pint Of Wine on Fishing Trip, Dies

A six-year-old Mansfield boy who went on a fishing trip with his father and two friends was dead today, victim of what the attending physician described as "alcoholic poisoning." The doctor said the boy apparently had consumed about a pint of wine.

The child, Louis Bonananta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bonananta, 304 First avenue, died last night in General hospital. He had been admitted to the hospital Tuesday night, in a semi-conscious condition and died without ever fully regaining consciousness.

The father told The News-Journal today that he had taken his young son, two other boys and two of his own friends on a fishing trip along the Clear Fork Tuesday morning.

Members of the party had some wine in the car, the elder Bonananta related. During the morning, he said, the child left the fishing party and returned to the car.

The boy was asleep in the car when other members of the party returned, and it was evident that he had drunk some of the wine, the father said, though he thought it was "only a couple of sips."

The father said he thought the boy had simply fallen asleep and was unaware that he was unconscious from the effects of the wine.

The child continued to sleep, and at first none of the others

TRY TO CUSHION DRAFT OF DADS

Manpower Officials Draw Up Plan To Take Single Men, Childless Husbands First.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The administration today formulated a plan to cushion induction of fathers Oct. 1 as a movement was launched to recall congress to enact legislation postponing their draft.

The administration plan was disclosed by authorities to assure thorough combing of the rolls for single men and childless husbands, and arranging quotas both on a national and state basis so that fathers will be the last class called.

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D., Mont.), aroused over the announcement that the draft of fathers will begin Oct. 1, proposed that congress be recalled from its summer recess unless the war manpower commission voluntarily postpones the "dads draft."

A bill by Wheeler, postponing induction of fathers until Jan. 1, is pending in the senate. It was reported by the military affairs

175 Watermelons On Ice for Park Festival Friday

There were 175 watermelons on ice today as the Johns park community completed arrangements for tomorrow night's annual watermelon festival, a highlight on that community's calendar for the past 34 years.

The shipment of melons arrived at the park from Indiana this morning and were immediately packed in ice.

Sandwiches, cake, soft drinks, popcorn, and ice cream will also be served. Music for the evening will be furnished by a group from the Eugene Smart studio.

The park association has formerly sponsored strawberry and watermelon festivals each year, but found it impossible to have a strawberry festival this year.

Robert Stevenson is chairman of the festival committee. Working with him are Walter Underwood, Harry Bowman, William Tusler, Harry Johnson, Sam Burgers, Mike Mihalick, Carl Stough, and Edward Wyllie.

Proceeds from the festival are used for park purposes.

Germans Put Up Ferocious Rearguard Action as They Withdraw.

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW—The Red army battled its way through the streets of Orel today, completing occupation of the first great city to be wrested from the Germans in the summer campaign.

The Germans offered stubborn resistance, throwing tanks into bitter street fighting, but the action appeared to be only a rearguard defense rather than a serious effort to challenge the Russians for possession of the key fortified city.

Red army infantry storming down from the hills east of Orel swept across the Oka river and were reported mopping up the enemy's rearguards block by block.

Frontline dispatches said the Germans still were offering bitter resistance northwest and southwest of Orel in an effort to cover the retreat of the main body of their troops through the bottleneck to the west.

The Soviet army newspaper Red Star declared the Nazis had stepped up their rearline firepower in those areas, virtually doubling the number of guns for each mile of the front, and were counter-attacking with groups of 15 to 25 tanks.

Soviet bombers, however, were reported blasting at the enemy's support lines and main bases behind the Orel salient, concentrating on the communications center of Bryansk, Nikitovka, Yasinovataya and Ilovaiskaya behind the Kharkov front and Mga on the Leningrad front also were subjected to heavy air attacks.

(The Berlin radio announced last night Nazi forces had evacuated Orel. Describing the retreat as an "evacuation according to plan," the announcement said German forces had taken up previously-prepared positions behind the

OUTLOOK BETTER

More Soap Bought But Supply of Fats Reported Large.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Meat and lard processors today said an unusually heavy supply of lard stocks in warehouses indicated a better outlook for the nation's dwindling soap supply.

Dealers said that with housewives disinclined to use their red stamps for lard, prospects of moving the surplus was not bright.

A big outlet for lard over recent months has been the War Food Administration, which had required that 50 per cent of total production be set aside for government use. But this week the WFA, by suspending that requirement, sharply reduced possible outlets.

Americans have been buying soap this year faster than it has been manufactured under government restrictions, the agriculture department reported today.

British Seize Paterno, Crack Line on Coast

Flash Ahead 10 Miles After Taking Key Port Bitterly Defended Since July 15; Battle for Messina Opens, Allies Advancing.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (UP) — American casualties in Sicily up to July 22 numbered 501 killed, 3,870 wounded and 2,370 missing, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson announced today.

(By Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA—British Eighth army troops seized Catania early today and swept around the base of Mt. Etna to the northwest capturing Paterno, 10 miles away, to crumble the German line on the east coast of Sicily, headquarters announced.

Catania fell to the Eighth army at 8:30 a. m. (2:30 a. m., Eastern War Time) today, after a bitter defense since July 15, and the British pounded ahead in a lightning advance clockwise around the base of Mt. Etna.

The heart of the German army corps appeared to be broken.

Paterno is 10 miles northwest of Catania, and it was assumed that Misterbianco, three miles northwest of Catania, also had been engulfed.

German withdrawal of non-essential personnel from Sicily has been in progress for the last five or six days, it was learned authoritatively.

The German defense road around Mt. Etna was blasted apart by the British successes today and the next German line was expected to run from Taormina across the northeastern tip of the island to the seacoast on the northeast behind San Fratello, which already is menaced by U. S. Seventh army troops.

This would mean abandonment of the whole Mt. Etna area by the Axis.

The whole German left flank based on the heights of Mt. Etna was in grave danger from the British success achieved after terrific and incessant combat since the giant Allied offensive on the entire Sicilian front began on Sunday.

Pressed back from the western edge of the Catania plain and smothered under a furious, massed artillery barrage that continued day and night, the German line around bomb and fire-scarred Catania broke early today.

Catania was taken despite strong enemy resistance, a special communique said.

The Allied advance continued all along the front, headquarters said, as American, Canadian and British troops drove the Germans back toward their last

Italian Hope for Peace Stirred by Government Move

(By Associated Press)

BERN, Switzerland—Announcement that the Italian government would meet today to examine "important measures" again stirred the hopes of the Italian people that steps would be taken to remove them from the war.

(Associated Press dispatches from London said the British looked for the meeting to bring an answer to the Italian people's cries for peace and Germany's demands.)

(A National Broadcasting company correspondent in Bern reported the Italian foreign minister, Raffaele Guariglia, had drafted peace proposals containing among other conditions that no Allied troops come into the country except for control purposes and that the peninsula be "neutralized." Guariglia's proposal was said to be up for consideration at today's cabinet meeting.)

A Swiss correspondent in Milan said an air of desperation had settled on the Italian people and signs were scribbled on walls at night reading:

"Death to Badoglio and the king."

"We want peace and work."

"The Germans must get out of Italy."

Cardinal Maglione, papal secretary of state, meanwhile convoked an extraordinary session of the 16 cardinals now in Rome for the apparent purpose, said the Corriere della Sera of Milan, of discussing questions connected with the international situation.

At the same time a constant stream of ambassadors, ministers, apostolic nuncios and other diplomats was reported flowing in and out of the foreign office in Rome, lending credence to the belief that some important development was in the offing.

The Lavora Italiano, taking a different tack than that of the past two days, when the press on orders from Premier Badoglio warned the Italian people that "the war must go on," today declared the sessions of the British

IN THE CAPITAL-- By Raymond Clapper

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa—(By Wireless)—On behalf of the American men who are fighting this war, risking and sometimes losing their lives, Americans at home can well support the Allied determination to punish war criminals. The shooting of Mussolini should be a cold-blooded aim of the Allies.

Clapper

One would not think that the matter of physically destroying Mussolini needed to be argued in a country where we kill criminals who murder even one person, not hundreds of thousands as Mussolini has done. Yet at dinner with a group of civilians the other night there was some difference of opinion, so the same argument may be going on in America for all I know. It would be a shame if any soft-hearted sentiment developed at home such as was registered against the bombing of Rome, which in fact proved to be a very practical military stroke.

The danger is that some will argue it would be better to give Mussolini the exile treatment, such as Napoleon received, on the theory that this would be the more excruciating punishment. I do not think the point is whether we should torture Mussolini, and I would not be in favor of any kind of torture. I just believe that the interests of civilization, peace and mankind in general would be served by standing this man up against a wall and killing him, making a good, clean, quick job of it as we do in the execution of simple criminals at home.

President Roosevelt is wise, I think, in giving neutral nations notice that the Allies expect them not to give asylum to criminals. When I was in Sweden there was a widspread idea that Goering and possibly others had salted down handsome country villas in that country where they could live in safe comfort after they lost the war. No doubt also similar preparations are being made for havens in Switzerland. But there is no reason why Switzerland, Sweden or any other neutral should harbor criminals like Mussolini any more than they would harbor a simple murderer, which they will not do.

There is a limit to the use of the technicalities of neutrality as a means of protecting such criminals—the fact that they are big criminals, wholesales murderers, should make their arrest and execution more certain rather than less so. We send thousands of our young men into Africa, into Sicily, perhaps into Italy, to shoot down Italian youths who were forced by Mussolini to be soldiers. Yet some people gag at using a gun on the man who was responsible.

If ever one man was responsible it is Mussolini. His is even a clearer case than Hitler's, if that is possible. Mussolini was out on a campaign of conquest in Ethiopia in the middle '30's. He had a part in inciting a murderous war for fascism in Spain. Finally he alone cast the die in throwing Italy into the war to stab France in the back in the summer of 1940. There has never been a case where the decision of one man as between war and peace was so clear. The record out of his own mouth convicts him.

Although I am writing this from Allied headquarters, obviously I am speaking for myself as an American civilian, in no way representing Allied military policy, although I hope and expect that our military will be ready to use a gun on Mussolini when the opportunity offers. If anybody at home gags at such a measure then he should oppose the continuation of the war, because there is no difference between killing one big man and killing many of his little men.

The fact that Mussolini is out of power is no excuse, for, as President Roosevelt says, no one should escape punishment by the expedient of resigning his office. I have not seen very much of this war but I have seen enough to convince me more deeply than before, if that is possible, that was is an unnecessary curse, a waste of lives and resources, and that the airplane makes it possible for the Allies to prevent aggressors from breaking loose again if we truly want to do it.

GLIDERS LAND AT NIGHT IN MOCK ATTACK

Demonstrate New Departure In Airborne Fighting; Arnold Praises Units.

(By United Press)

LAURINBURG - MAXTON ARMY AIR BASE, N. C.—"These boys will have 50 per cent greater ability than members of airborne units that invaded Sicily.

"By God, when they can put gliders down in the pitch dark—when you can't see a damned thing but the stars—it proves our boys are going to town."

Gen. Henry H. Arnold, top man of the army air forces, speaking after a two-day public demonstration of new techniques in airborne warfare which military observers said was a reaffirmation of official faith in the glider as a military weapon.

Correspondents and high ranking officers, including Arnold, witnessed the demonstrations, featuring a simulated glider attack on an enemy town, single and formation takeoffs, and spot landings both in routh terrain and on water.

Arnold described the night landings—made on moonless nights and without either ground illumination or glider lights—as a new departure in glider warfare.

He said, "I heard music in the air—they had the post band in the first glider and they came in playing 'Coming In On a Wing and a Prayer.' After they landed, the band marched away playing 'What the Hell Do We Care.' It was marvelous."

Twenty-two gliders from the 11th troop carrier squadron staged a simulated airborne attack on the make-believe enemy town of Maxbase near here for the benefit of the press and military observers. Within 10 minutes after the first glider landed in a cloud of dust, clipping 10-foot pines in its path, the attack was in full swing. Two gliders opened their short noses and disgorged 75 mm. pack Howitzers. The 75's roared and from the curtain of dust raised by other incoming gliders, airborne infantrymen in full battle dress ran for the woods and their objective.

Although officers frankly said they did not expect the demonstration to go off without accident, there was remarkably little damage to the frail craft.

WPB REJECTS 'WAR BEDROCK' FOR CIVILIANS

Sets Up Yardstick Policy To Restrict Economy But Not Hit Subsistence Level.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The war production board today tentatively rejected the need of imposing a wartime bedrock economy on civilians on the basis of the present military situation, but warned that for the next 18 months the output of civilian goods will be restricted to those necessary to meet essential needs and services.

In the first report which he has made since taking office on April 15, WPB Vice Chairman Authur D. Whiteside, head of the office of civilian requirements, laid down a policy which will serve as a "yardstick" in the task of preserving a sound and vigorous civilian economy without denying military demands.

"We do not advocate forcing the civilian population down to bare subsistence levels in the present military situation," the report said.

Whiteside's report said that no unnecessary sacrifices would be asked of civilian but it made it plain that they would not be coddled. From time to time bans on production of certain essential articles will be lifted, but Whiteside emphasized that there were no plans to reopen substantial manufacture of many items formerly produced for civilians.

The new policy carries these provisions:

1. Insure that all minimum essential civilian requirements are met and in addition that all national resources above that level, which cannot be employed effectively to meet military and foreign policy needs, are utilized to supply civilians.

2. Supplies for civilians will be considered to be at the minimum essential level for any product or service when further reduction would impair civilian health, morale or working efficiency of the national economic structure beyond what is justified by the prospective gain to the war through release of resources.

3. Adequate repair parts, replacement parts and labor must be made available to maintain existing essential equipment in the hands of civilians in operating condition.

Whiteside pointed out that inventories are falling, manpower available for civilian production and distribution will be seriously reduced, and peak war schedules plus heavy exports to rehabilitate areas freed from Axis control will result in additional claims on the national economy.

FAIR ENOUGH-- By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK—There is a disposition to give Mayor La Guardia much more credit than he deserves for the handling of the riot of a criminal element of Negroes in Harlem and to withhold from the New York policemen who faced the mobs and won the victory with a minimum of bloodshed and damage just that proportion of the credit which is due them. A correct proportion would be about .01 per cent for the mayor and 99.09 per cent for the cops, who are the best in the United States and probably the best in the world their virtues and the problems considered.

Pegler

In the first place, one reason why the looters and bad-men and women could get out of hand was that the authority of the police has been systematically undermined in Harlem during La Guardia's time in office. If, during all these years, the bad actors among the population of that colored neighborhood had been held to the same standard of conduct and law observance that is required of colored and white citizens alike in other sections of the city, rioters would have been no more likely to break loose there than in, say, Mulberry Bend or Murray Hill. If, in one of these other regions, an individual or a group of three or four step out of line or refuse to break it up at the cop's command he simply picks his man and locks him up and that is that. In Harlem, on the contrary, the policemen have been victims of a special policy which has coddled the loafer and fancy-dan to the peril and embarrassment of the decent Negroes who have to live with these ructioneers and run the risk of assaults and fights with them and share the bad name which they have given the largest Negro center in the United States.

The decent Negro citizens know that the name of Harlem has attracted there an element of bums and thieves who were no good in their own home towns and are no better here, and it was no compliment to the decent element when La Guardia put handcuffs on the policemen to hamper them in dealing with offenders who would be slapped down fast and locked up as a matter of routine if the law were faithfully and impartially enforced in Harlem. La Guardia has seemed to believe that the law-abiding, industrious colored citizens would thank him for special lenience to the element of no-goods, of both sexes, who are neither an asset nor a credit to any community.

A couple of years ago, I made the mistake of criticizing a large number of time-expired New York policemen, many of them relatively young fellows, who, having served their 20 years on the force, were putting in for retirement on pension, according to their legal right.

To my regret, I went so far as to suggest that their retirement then was comparable to desertion in the face of an emergency presented by a foreign enemy, without first consulting a few harness cops and others of the rank and file to get their side. I got it, however, a few days later, in a large batch of letters from policemen, many of whom gave their names, in which the men complained bitterly of humiliations put upon them by La Guardia in public disparagements of individual policemen and in the discredit of their authority as cops in Harlem and in troubles with union pickets.

If they stayed on, as many of them said they would have been willing to under any mayor whose fairness they could count upon, they had to take the risk of departmental charges and dismissal with consequent loss of all their earned pension rights. They felt that La Guardia had treated them badly and were unwilling to serve longer under him and were standing on their rights. Their version of conditions in Harlem later was confirmed by two able men then on the district attorney's staff who also said the Communists of La Guardia's left wing in Harlem, where Congressman Vito Marcantonio is a power and the mayor's political protege, enjoyed special privileges and contrived to keep affairs in a touchy condition all the time by turning into a case of Cossack persecution every altercation between a policeman, whether colored or white, and any Negro mischief maker.

Having helped stack the crates and barrels by his anti-cop policy over a number of years, the mayor then was aghast when the pile was toppled off by a fracas between a policeman and two Negroes whose little mishap should have been a routine entry. But it was the cops, operating under reduced prestige who had to do the dangerous work in the streets to save the peace of the rest of the city and protect the lives of the great majority of law-abiding Harlem Negroes.

La Guardia was technically correct in saying that this was no race riot but nevertheless, in the imagination of the rioters, it was just that and for this reason certain elements of the Negro press cannot escape responsibility. Even Mrs. Roosevelt has mildly deplored this editorial policy of these papers which, frankly is one of race hatred and incitation and of ennoblement of every Negro in any jam with the law, even though the subject be known to his Negro neighbors as a worthless bad-man.

HUNDREDS FLEE FLOODED HOMES

Rains Send Central Ohio Streams Out of Banks, Blocking Roads.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Heavy rains sent streams throughout central Ohio flowing out of their banks today and forced hundreds of persons to evacuate their homes.

Ninety families moved out of two Columbus suburbs as Big Walnut creek overflowed its banks. Forty families were evacuated from the Wonderland addition north of Port Columbus and 50 families were forced out in Gould park.

The Franklin county sheriff's office said a cloudburst in the northern section of the county caused the already-swollen Big Walnut to overflow.

George Mindling, U. S. weather observer, said the Scioto river's drainage basin was overtaxed by the heavy downpour. He reported rainfall throughout the basin north of Circleville averaged two inches yesterday and predicted the Scioto would go at least three feet above its 17-foot flood stage at Circleville sometime today.

Mindling said Marion had a four-inch fall.

At St. Marys, John Sunderland, superintendent of Lake St. Marys, reported three inches of rain fell there yesterday, flooding basements in homes in the low sections.

The state highway patrol reported nearly a dozen central Ohio roads blocked by water last night, but all were clear today except Route 16, about 10 miles south of Coshocton where a cloudburst sent the Muskingum river pouring over its banks.

KILLED BY TRAIN

TOLEDO—(INS)—William Ringel, 50, of Fostoria, was killed when his truck was struck by a Pennsylvania railroad train near Walbridge.

NEWARK FIRM GETS "E"

NEWARK—(INS)—The Newark Stove company has been awarded the Army-Navy E for excellence in war production, it was announced today.

Up and Down THE STREET

At least one Mansfield woman has discovered that the Woolworth store's darkened windows facing on West Third street serve as a good mirror. The other day passers-by were amused to see the woman stop in front of the window, turn this way and that, and exclaim in what she thought was an aside to herself, "Just as I thought, too short." Then she walked on apparently oblivious of the fact that she was being watched.

* * *

Mansfielders who are using their evenings and holidays for berry-picking trips into the woods and fields are running into hordes of chiggers and mosquitoes that take all the fun out of the outdoor hikes. A record crop of mosquitoes was bred in the water-filled ditches and pools and conditions this summer seem to be ideal for the pesky little chiggers which bore under the skin and cause welts. The insect pests are worst in the sections where the biggest blackberries grow — where it's shady and moist. Because of the shortage of other fruits, there are more berry pickers, and literally hundreds of them are exchanging ideas for treating their bites.

Delivering babies was one thing Dr. (now Major) C. L. Shafer thought he was done with when he entered the army medical corps. But you can never tell about the army. In a letter received by one of his Mansfield friends, Major Shafer said that in the two years he had been in the army he has delivered more than 200 babies, mostly for the wives of men stationed near his base in New Mexico.

ICKES PARLEYS ON 'EQUAL GAS'

Meets With Congressmen at Chicago on Plan To Cut Midwest Ration.

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO — Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes was in Chicago today to face a congressional hearing on the question of equalizing gasoline rations throughout the nation.

At least 32 congressmen were expected at today's session which seeks to determine whether a drastic cut in gasoline is necessary to the prosecution of the war and whether the "share the sacrifice" policy of Ickes, as fuel administrator, conforms to wartime needs.

East coast motorists at present are allotted three gallons of gasoline for each coupon while drivers in the rest of the country get four gallons.

One proposal before the unofficial committee calls for ration coupon values permitting an average of 5,000 miles a year of driving for all motorists from the Rocky mountains to the eastern seaboard.

Heading the committee is Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R) of Ohio.

Ickes arrived in Chicago accompanied by three aides who also were to attend the session. They are Ralph K. Davies, deputy fuel administrator; J. A. Parten, director of transportation, and E. B. Swanson, director of research. William Boyd, chairman of the petroleum industry war council, was to attend.

JUKE BOX GETS POLICE CALL

Crossed Wires Blamed for Unmelodious Mixup.

CLEVELAND — (U.P.) — Policemen could walk across the street from headquarters today to Lubeck's casino and quaff a quick beer without missing a thing.

A new phonograph machine at the tavern turned out police calls for a nickel instead of the usual melodies.

An electrician tried to find the crossed wires as the machine droned out: "Calling car 592, calling car 592."

ON BROADWAY-- By Dorothy Kilgallen

(Note: Janie Pickens is a girl who gets around a lot, and has furnished countless items for the Broadway columns. Perhaps she never expected to be writing one herself—but here it is!—D. K.)

Jane Pickens Says—

MY JOB is singing, and I love it. I like to cut loose with a dash of musical comedy—a bit of opera—a spot of spiritual—even a soup-con of boogie-woogie. My place is behind a piano, and right now my place is in the most perfect place I can imagine: San Francisco, the port of embarkation. Servicemen come, and servicemen go—while Pickens goes on forever (she hopes). The boys pour into the Persian room at the Sir Francis Drake hotel, where I'm currently cavorting, every night. And believe me, I do my best to give them the best show I can.

Perhaps there's an extra impetus in my wanting to give my musical all as a result of that trip a few of us took in bombers to all the outposts of the army and navy in the Carribean. We had a rare opportunity then to see a tiny bit of what our boys are going through, and since that time, I for one haven't been able to do half enough. It's amazing, too, how often someone turns up whom I saw on the Carribean trip. And it's just as amazing the conversations we get into. There's no rationing on cabbages and kings when Pickens and company get into action!

"What are you doing so far away from New York, Jane?" one will ask. . . . "Well, Sergeant, Ed Wynn, Paul Draper and I came out here to San Francisco to do the show "Big Time," which played six weeks here, six weeks in L. A., and then closed for the summer. Then I came back to San Francisco. Why? Call it a 1943 gold rush—the sun glancing off that Golden Gate really brought out the prospector in me. I love the place."

Or "Whatever happened to your sisters, Jane? Aren't they singing any more?" . . . "Oh, yes indeed, Lieutenant. Very much so. Patti is singing with her handsome husband, Bob Simmons. Grace is singing lullabies to a brand new daughter whom I haven't met yet. That makes three little Cahill girls for her—and if, fifteen years from now, the Cahill Sisters turn out to be the most sensashunal trio riding the airwaves, don't say Auntie Jane didn't warn you. . . . So actually Helen is the only Pickens sister who isn't singing at the moment, and as a matter of fact she may be at that, trilling merrily away as she cleans house in Beverly Hills of a morning while all the maids are busy with their defense jobs."

"Ah, little Jane. How are you m'dear? I remember when you used to be one of the Pickens Sisters. Now just between us, Jane, don't you miss those days? Wouldn't you like to join up with a harmony trio again?" Well, Captain, just between us—the answer is I love my sisters, and I love singing with them, but I guess deep down underneath I'm just a rugged individualist. It's a good thing too, because some of the sister acts now certainly wear a girl down. If the OPM could only harness the total energy they use up to a couple of dynamos, we'd have this war won in nothing flat.

CHAPTER XVIII

Meegan's face sobered then when she thought she would like to shake Paul from his apathy, shake him into an awakening of his deeper feelings. If he would touch her with desire; if he would speak of the things his deeper feelings told him . . . But he sat grinning at her with gentleness and tolerance and, if he had not changed, eagerly anticipating the coming food. If she married Paul they would sit thus at their dining room table for the next fifty odd years, he grinning at her with gentleness and tolerance and being hungry, she leaning forward, her excitement over some trivial thing meeting a glacial impact. She thought, my common sense is wrong. I'd rather be dead than married to him. I'd be fifty odd years dying slowly . . .

He said, "I'm embarrassed that my train for Richmond leaves before yours. I've checked the schedule and that's how it is You'll have about half an hour to wait. That is, if you're going back this afternoon."

"I'm going back."

"I hate to rush off like this but I don't know when I'll see Mother and Dad again. My training gets stiffer . . ."

"You like flying, don't you?"

"I'd rather fly than eat. I didn't like it at first and I was scared to death. You don't admit that until basic is over."

"I think you'll make a good pilot, Paul. You're cool and I've never seen you lose your head You take things as they come"

"I don't think my instructor thought that for a long time. I expected to be washed-out any day. It takes me a long time to get something but when I've got it, I keep it."

During luncheon they talked a bit about the island. Paul asked about Adele's tennis and Van's golf score and how was Toby getting along Meegan felt her little burst of excitement drying up. The faces around her no longer seemed attractive and animated but dull . . . dull as Paul's face. And rather than wishing to prolong her visit she wished she had not come at all. A pain lay somewhere in her, the sick pain of disappointment. When would she learn that it was futile to hope that the 'next time' she saw Paul she would care for him, that some magic had been wrought by distance that would make her see in a fairy-tale-like revelation that he was the man for her?

After luncheon they walked until it was time to get a taxi to the station It was better to walk alone, she thought. A hundred little things, comic and tragic and a mixture of the two, caught her eye Had she been with anyone else, she thought, she would have talked about them. But Paul walked stiffly beside her, only grinning at her now and then to let her know he knew she was still with him.

In the station they stood near the gate, Meegan's futile attempts at conversation smothered by the wailing of a fat baby in the arms of a distraught young mother

Paul said, "Mother and Dad are coming down to see me get my wings . . . If I get through"

"I've heard it's a wonderful sight."

"It's something to see, all right. But I'll write you more in detail about that later"

"I hope you make it, Paul. I know it means a lot to you"

"Thanks Well, this looks like good-bye, doesn't it?" He moved closer to her and held out his hand "It was swell, seeing you, Meegan. Remember me to the gang at the island. I . . . well I wish you'd change your mind..."

She stood on the toes of her blue pumps and kissed his cheek coolly.

"I'm sure about the things I said. Very sure But I'll write . . . You better go now You can't miss this train Your father and mother are meeting it . . ."

"I wish you were . . . well, sort of going along"

"I can't this time Remember me to them. You'll have to hurry . . ."

He ran awkwardly, his bag flapping against his legs, his brown hat dancing tentatively on his head. Poor Paul, dear Paul, so wrong and yet so right. So wrong for her, so right for another girl. She found herself flung headlong into the sad, sick feeling of being utterly alone. You could stand in a station that was fast becoming the center of the world and feel that you are the only person in the world.

When the train moved, she turned and began to walk into the waiting room when she was conscious of a person walking beside her . . . She glanced up quickly, a rather hostile glance, and saw Fayne.

"Hello," he said. "You're the last person I expected to see here I never think of you as having any life except the one on the island."

Meegan said, "I rarely do"

It was curious to see him away from the island and from Clare and the house in which they lived and in uniform. He seemed taller, broader, fairer, his smile not slow and studied but the quick white flash of a spontaneous smile that so warmed her it was as if she had never been cold in her life. They were walking together . . . Fayne with a spring in his steps, the aliveness of him making her feel once again that she lived asleep until she saw him. There was color in his face beneath his tan and his eyes were eyes that would miss nothing, that would take in everything about him in one swift, expansive, comprehending glance And all at once the people ceased to be slowly moving clods and become alert, intelligent people in a station that was fast becoming the magnetic center of the world.

"I was just putting a chap on the train," he said.

"So was I."

He stopped and looked down at her. "And then I was going back to my place and change and get some things together and make a few calls and drive down to the island Are you driving or will you drive down with me?"

"No, I'm not driving. I was going back on the next train."

"But you're not. You're going down with me."

She nodded and smiled It was so easy, too easy to smile. It was far too easy, too, to feel that they were lovers meeting, terribly glad to see each other and planning a wonderful afternoon together.

They came out into the crowded sunny street and walked to his car.

In the car he said, "And they say that coincidences never happen."

"They rarely do when you want them to"

"Don't they?" He laughed "You wanted this one It's a long, weary, dusty trip back by train and bus."

Driving through the crowded city absorbed him until he stopped the car before an old town house on a shady street.

"I have a small place here. A foothold In Washington you're extremely lucky to have a place of your own. Won't you come in while I attend to a few things and make some calls?"

They walked up a colonial staircase and Fayne opened the door into a comfortable, cool, dim living room. The deep chairs, the large mahogany desk, the filled bookcase, the colored etchings on the beige wall and the large crystal ashtrays spoke for the taste and sex of its occupant. In this place there was nothing of Clare. There was nothing to suggest her to strangers and there was nothing which reminded those who knew of her. There was not even a photograph of her. There was nothing.

She was conscious of Fayne's sigh, the sigh of a tired man who is glad to come home, as she pulled off her gloves and walked to the window.

"It's a very domestic scene you'll see from there," he said.

Looking out the window, she smiled "You know it then. A nurse girl is trying to teach a little boy how to ride a bike."

He smiled. "She's been trying to teach him for a week. I've been following his progress. He falls off, loses his courage. After a while he tries again."

Meegan looked back to him "Please don't bother about me I'll be all right. I'm always all right when I see books."

"You'll have to tell me about the newer ones I never have time to read them."

She laughed "I don't think I'll stay long enough to make a full report"

He was walking toward the door beyond which lay his bedroom when he stopped and chuckled "Then take a few of them with you. I won't be longer than necessary. Away from the island you're probably like a fish out of water. And I'd like to get in a swim today."

As she turned to look out the window again she knew that he was still standing by the door Presently he opened it and went in and closed it and she heard his voice as he was speaking over the telephone.

Leaving the window she went to the bookcase and picked up Neville Henderson's "Failure of a Mission" and sat in the deep green chair and opened it. If she could pick up one or two ideas from the book they would have something to discuss as they rode to the island. But her hands were trembling and she hated the wild thing enclosed in her that brought her emotions to the surface and put her nerves on edge. He was Clare's husband, she told herself with firmness. Clare was his wife. They had been married for five years. Fayne was distant and unapproachable. He had to be. There was no sense in the tumult of her feelings when she was with him. There was no sense in her face when she looked at him unguarded . . . no sense, but a full measure of radiance and surrender oblivious of danger. Her mind was no good to her. Her feelings arrogantly overrode her mind stamping out reason and truth.

COUNTY WOMEN LEAVE FOR CAMP

BUCYRUS—Twenty-five Crawford county rural women left today for Camp Pittinger near McCutchenville for a four-day women's camp which will attract women from Wyandot, Marion, Richland, Seneca, and Erie counties.

Miss Mary Wiseman, Crawford county home demonstration agent, will serve as assistant camp manager.

Twenty-four boys and girls, accompanied, by Russell L. Miller, county farm agent, returned from the camp Wednesday night after attending the senior camp period.

A highlight will be the appearance of Mrs. Henry Ebert, Columbus, German refugee, on the Friday afternoon program.

INSIDE OUT

PITTSBURGH—(INS)—The Amen club is determined to have a picnic, but due to gasoline rationing the affair will be held in a Pittsburgh hotel. The outdoor flavor will be provided indoors, it was explained.

GET LUMBER

HARRISBURG, Pa.—(INS)—Plans are being completed for making lumber available to farmers for essential construction with a minimum of red tape. James E. Walker, chairman of the state war board of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, added that the program excludes farm dwellings.

TWINS HAVE IT

MACON, Ga.—(INS)—There are two sets of twins with the same first names, working in the same building, in the same department—and on the same shift at the Reynolds Corporation, U. S. Naval Ordnance Plant, in Macon. They are Lois and Louise Settle, and Lois and Louise Maynard.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

TRAFFIC DEATHS DECREASE

CHEYENNE, Wyo.—(U P)—The lowest traffic death toll in Wyoming in 14 years is credited by the state highway patrol of restrictions on sales of new cars, tires and gasoline. Capt. William R. Bradley of the patrol said the official death toll from traffic accidents for 1942 was 66, compared with 129 in 1941. In 1928 only 60 persons were killed.

"You can't blame us girls for being slightly confused," says Manager Ev Jocha of the Provident Loan softball club.

"The brides on this club have us all balmy.

"Just look. A couple of weeks ago we have Ruth (Whitey) Whiteman playing third base and Alice (Al) Iceman pitching.

"Sunday we had Whitey Cassel playing third, and Al Smith pitching, and the lineup hasn't changed a bit. The gals just change their names in the middle of the season. Strategy, no doubt.

"Al Smith had to be a Happy Warrior last Sunday, to keep on pitching with the errors we made back of her."

Well, the brides, and the rest of the Providents are proving Happy Warriors, taking their trimmings as they come, and I hope the experience doesn't make them Slap Happy Warriors.

They realize, of course, that they don't have the team they used to have, and they miss the punch in the bats once wielded by Donna Schuster, Bucky Holda and Jean Herrick, but they're always glad to oblige when some team expresses the desire of handing them a beating.

And that's why they are entered in the district tournament next week at Oberlin, just to give another team a chance to claim the district championship.

When plans for the district softball joust were announced, officials expressed doubt that there would be a girls' division in the tourney, because of the few girls' teams in the district.

The number had been sliced by a merger of the North Ridgeville, Elyria, and Cuyahoga Falls clubs into one team playing for Ridgeville. It left a tough team at Ridgeville, and none at the other two spots.

So the Ridgeville girls asked the Providents would they please come and play with them in the tournament so the Ridgevilles could win a championship, and the Providents said sure.

Sorry I missed Ed Chatlain a couple days ago. Seems the ex-Tyger and Wittenberg athletic star dropped in the office shortly after I left for the day.

Chat was making a flying trip to Mansfield, on transfer leave from California to Iowa, and he had a lot of interesting things to tell.

* *

Most interesting of his stories, I understand, was about his naval cadets beating the army baseball team featuring the great Joe DiMaggio. That's something to come home and tell about.

TIFFIN JUNIOR ORDER ABANDONS FOOTBALL

TIFFIN — (NS) — Tiffin Junior Home high school, a member of the Buckeye high school league, announced today it would abandon football for the duration. League contests with Fremont, Findlay, Fostoria, Bowling Green and Tiffin Columbian as well as non-circuit clashes with Alliance, Lima South and Tiffin Calvert will be cancelled. Inroads on the gridiron squad made by the draft and enlistments was given as the reason for the dropping of the sport.

Handicap May Make Haegg Run

A. A. U. Rigs Up Plan For Four-Minute Mile.

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK—(NS)—We will see the last of Gunder the Wonder in this country next Wednesday when he will make his farewell run here at Randall's Island in what the AAU chooses to call the "mile of the century," a race especially rigged to produce a record-breaking run by the long-legged Swede. A four minute mile? Yes and no, mostly the latter.

* * *

In his last appearance before he comes here for the grand finale Haegg will run Saturday night at Cincinnati — run and win as usual. By this time everybody is convinced that he is unbeatable, and they have rigged up handicaps for his race here next week to make it possible for one of his opponents to push him to the record. Other than that the element of competition is about equal to that to be found in a prize fight between Joe Louis and Joe Blow.

Haegg, Bill Hulse, the surprisingly improved miler, and Gil Dodds will run from scratch. Rudy Simms, Jim Rafferty, Don Burnham and Frank Martin will be given handicaps based on Haegg's 4:04.6 which was a world record until Arne Anderson was questionably clocked in better time in Sweden a couple of weeks ago.

If the four invited handicap runners perform to standard they will force the ultimate winner to get inside Haegg's world mark, and a new record will be set. Simple isn't it? Anyhow, that's the way it's supposed to be although Haegg probably will have them all stepping on their tongues before one turn around the track.

"And," says Daniel (A. A. U.) Ferris, "if any of the handicap runners perform better than their previous best this season, we may see the four-minute mile."

If we don't see the four-minute mile here, it seems likely that they will come up with it soon after Haegg returns to Sweden. Or as soon as some races are arranged between him and Anderson. Given perfect conditions and proper pacing on the part of either or both, and the long talked-about "impossible" will be accomplished.

The one thing it has done from a competitive standpoint that is most interesting to this country has to do with the way Hulse suddenly has come to life as a miler.

When he was clocked the other night in 4:06 flat in running second to Haegg's 4:05.4, he tore off the fastest mile ever run by any American except Glen Cunningham, who did his 4:04.4 under conditions that prevented the fine effort from being accepted as a world record. He ran on a fast indoor track and virtually was paced. Only Haegg and Anderson have bettered that 4:06 outdoors among all the men who have donned and doffed spikes through all the years, and Hulse thus stands as the surprise of this campaign.

Indianapolis Falling Fast

Slump Costs 9 Straight Defeats For Indians.

(By Associated Press)

The Indianapolis Indians league leaders through most of the first half of the season, are giving American association fans something else to think about these days—a terrific slump that has cost nine straight games.

A week ago last Tuesday the Indians were a game and a half out of first place. Today they were within a game and a half of toppling into fourth place.

Last night's 3 to 1 defeat was by fourth place Minneapolis.

League leading Milwaukee was carried extra innings in both games of a double header with Toledo before gaining an even split. Toledo won the opener, scheduled for seven innings in the ninth, 3-2. Milwaukee rallied to win the second in 12 innings, 7-6.

Columbus' double bill with Kansas City being postponed.

St. Paul stretched its winning streak to six by nosing out Louisville 3 to 2, in 10 innings.

HEAVY TRACK BLAMED FOR DEATH OF HORSE

XENIA — (NS) — A heavy track which resulted in over exertion of a heart attack was blamed today for the death of Senator Abbe 6-year-old former world champion pacing gelding, by her driver Wayne Smart.

The horse fell dead yesterday after winning the second heat of the $1,000 free-for-all pace at the Greene county fairgrounds.

Army Gives Flat 'No' to Plea for College Athletics

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Petitions may come and petitions may go, but the army has ruled once and for all the men it has placed in colleges are ineligible for varsity sports competition.

A hope the army would relent and permit its student-soldiers to play varsity football keeps finding expression in many quarters but officials said today "the question is not an open one."

Not open, they pointed out, means closed—closed by the flat "no" that for four months has been the official reply to the question: Will soldiers in the army specialized training program be permitted to engage in intercollegiate sports?

Despite the petition submitted recently by 256 members of congress headed by Rep. Samuel A. Weiss of Pennsylvania, officers say there has been no change in policy. Secretary of War Stimson and Under Secretary Patterson were not available for comment, but inquiries elsewhere made it more than evident their subordinates would be astonished if they changed the order.

The navy, much more liberal in its attitude on the subject, has an entirely different set of problems, and furthermore the policy announced last week-end by Secretary Knox, placing new restrictions on navy participation in intercollegiate football, is taken as an indication that the navy has found complete freedom in that regard not entirely to its liking.

Basically, the army's attitude is that men assigned to colleges for intensive classroom work and supervised study have no time for varsity sports. On the average the men have about six hours leisure a week.

* * *

The army expects the men to participate in sports but strictly of the intramural variety. Special allowances and freedom could be granted to the minority who would be engaged in varsity sports.

Legion Joust Nears Finals

Springfield Upsets Cleveland Outfit.

COLUMBUS— (UP) —Cleveland Variety Post No. 318 and Cincinnati Betley Post No. 50 play today for the right to meet Springfield in the finals of the 16th annual Ohio American Legion baseball tournament tomorrow.

Springfield, fighting to remain in the tournament as the result of a first round defeat by Cincinnati, yesterday held Cleveland to two hits while putting across one run each in the second and eighth innings to score an upset 2 to 0 shutout.

Cleveland previously was undefeated in the four-day old tournament, boasting victories over Cincinnati, Columbus and Lima.

Each of the three teams still remaining in the running has been defeated by one of the others, Cincinnati by Cleveland, Cleveland by Springfield and Springfield by Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, the defending state champion, drew a bye in fifth-round play yesterday after eliminating Columbus the previous day.

Tournament officials said the winner of today's game would meet Springfield for the state championship on the Ohio State university diamond tomorrow morning.

The state champion automatically qualifies for the regional legion tournament. Last year Cincinnati went to the national semi-finals before being eliminated.

The seven-year-old gelding stepped to his 10th straight victory of the 1943 season at the current running race meeting at Ascot yesterday. The horse is owned by E. B. Lee, of Charlestown, W. SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Betcha never knew this—a collection of odd and unimportant items culled from sports history:

FIFTH WHEEL

Connie Mack's famous "$100,000" infield was composed of five men—Stuffy McInnis, Eddie Collins, Jack Barry and Home Run Baker (the four you've heard about) and Danny Murphy, who cost Connie about $500. . . . Murphy arrived late for his first game with the A's on July 8, 1902, so Jud Castro played the first inning and got a hit. . . . Then Murphy turned up and smacked six consecutive blows, so his late arrival cost him a chance to get his name into the record books with the all-time leaders.

Y'S GUY

The fact that Wayne Johnson, who played 60 minutes of good football for Harvard against Yale last fall now is a Marine trainee and candidate for the Yale team reminds old-timers of the 1913 game between the Elis and the Johnnies. F. J. O'Brien, Harvard end, scored a deliberate safety that day, thinking he was merely making a touchback . . . Harvard won, so it was only a gag when O'Brien's teammates voted to award him his "Y."

BLOCK OFF THE OLD CHIP

George Chip, who bossed the middleweight division in 1913-14, probably was the only champion who lost his title while serving as a substitute. . . . George's kind brother Joe had given an unknown named Al McCoy a licking but when a return bout was arranged in Brooklyn, Joe got hurt in training. . . . The promoter thought it would be smart to get George to sub for his brother in a no-decision affair. . . . At the bell, Chip swarmed all over McCoy; his first assault failed to put Al down and George stepped back to get his breath. . . . As he relaxed a moment, a punch came from nowhere. The fight was all over in just 45 seconds and McCoy was the new champion.

IT'S A GYP-SEE

Alex Robb of the Thoroughbred Racing association dug up the yarn about Gypsy Lee, who picked a Derby winner for an English nobleman some 75 years ago . . . Gypsy wrote "Blue Gown" on the race program and sure enough Sir Joseph Hawley's Blue Gown won the Epsom Derby . . Peeved because the nobleman criticised her spelling, Gypsy Lee then prophesied that no horse whose name began with "W" would win the Derby as long as she lived—and none did . . . Gypsy Lee died in 1933 and next spring the Gypsies who gather on Derby day reality unloaded their pockets to bet in Winsor Lad, owned by the Maharajah of Rajpipla . . . Of course the "W" horse won at odds better than 7 to 1.

Tom Armour Not Invited

Doesn't Get Along With Certain Writer.

By DAVIS J. WALSH

CHICAGO —(INS)— We're all trying to win the war in our own way, including those of us who are on permanent detail in charge of the officers' golf course. So we suppose there's no outstanding need to become distressed over a little thing like the fact that, even with a war charity at stake, the Ryder cup matches are going on this week-end in Detroit with a cast that seems unnecessarily second rate—because not every first rate guy with box office "sucker appeal" has been asked to join in.

Either wilfully, or through a very singular oversight, the name of Thomas D. Armour, former national open champion, has been omitted from the list of those who, on Saturday and Sunday, are to set out to woo the charitable but always unpredictable dollar in through the wickets at Plum Hollow. Not being one who comprehends quickly, we called up Armour last night to ask him why he had not been invited.

"I would have been extremely surprised," said he, promptly, "if I had been invited," and then declined to elaborate in any way. But, in a sense, he didn't have to.

It sounds a little insane, but it's probable that Armour wasn't asked to attend because he once wrote a magazine article that deeply wounded a sport writer who's a lovely fellow. In fact, so danged affable that, if you don't at all times follow him about uttering fervent Hosannahs, you're deemed to be a contemptible cad.

You might well ask what all this has to do with the American Red Cross, and the fact that it would like to benefit from the presence of a golfer who, first of all, was a hero of World war one, and, second, is an admitted showman beside whom some of the others seem pale and insipid by contrast. And who, finally, was a playing pro at a Detroit club for a good many years. But don't ask us. We only work here.

All we know, in fact, is that of the men officially named, they're mostly the kind—apart from Nelson, McSpaden, Demaret, Craig Wood, Jimmy Thompson, Sarzen and Hagen—that won't draw caricatures. Yet when one of them, Ed Dudley, was forced to withdraw, Armour still wasn't asked to attend.

* * *

The substitute was Frank Walsh, who can be appropriately described as a man who has been trying to win something for 20 years.

PHILS BUY HAMRICK FROM NASHVILLE CLUB

PITTSBURGH — (UP) — The Philadelphia Phillies announced today the purchase of Shortstop Ray Hamrick from Nashville of the Southern Association for $25,000 and Shortstop Chuck Brewster.

Hamrick, a righthander and said to be one of the best shortstops in the minor leagues, will report tomorrow in time for the series with the Giants.

TAKES TITLE

CLEVELAND —(NS)— Tommy Whiteway of Canterbury club today held the Cleveland district amateur medal play golf title. Whiteway won the honors for the fourth time in six years by defeating John Barko, public links star, by seven strokes over the 18-hole route. Whiteway had a 77 to Barko's 84 in the play-off round. They had tied with 147's over the regulation 36-hole tourney round.

Odd Record Seen In Daily Double

CHICAGO —(INS)— Race track fans pored over the records today to determine if the novel circumstances in yesterday's daily double at Washington park, which returned $1,030 to each of 34 bettors, ever had been duplicated.

* * *

The double was formed by Stars At Night in the first race, which paid $81.20 straight, and Maihigh in the second, which returned $28.60.

* * *

Each thoroughbred had Maiden's Ballet for its dam.

Both are owned by W. W. Guernsey of Kansas City.

Both are trained by M. C. Goodsell.

Both were ridden by the same jockey, apprentice Bill Bailey.

Grounded Jockey Wins First Round In Scrap With Moguls

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK—(UP)—The sanctimonious brass hats of the racing industry recovered gradually today from the shock of Jockey Bobby Merritt's refusal to sit back and starve while they autocratically refused to give him a riding license.

* * *

Bobby is a bantamweight, who 12 years ago tossed aside an insurance salesman's portfolio for the pleasure and profit of riding. He became one of the best and had no more spots on his record than any other little man who has been grounded occasionally for swinging a careless whip in the rush down the stretch.

Merritt took a vacation last November but when the gee-gees came back to New York this spring he applied for renewal of his license—and was refused without explanation.

This is routine from the jockey clubs, this haughty treatment of the little men from whom they demand obesiance and humility. The refusal of the stewards to be questioned on their decisions has in the past buffaloed such men as Eddie Arcaro, Earl Sande and Don Meade. In the few times they have talked, they reasoned that there were two causes for maintaining silence:

1. Although morally certain a jockey was guilty of wrongdoing they might have trouble in presenting evidence.

2. They rid themselves of the boy and still give him a chance to ride elsewhere.

So they refused to explain why Merritt would not be given a license. He demanded to know why, charging that such treatment was laying him open to suspicion, but his plea was ignored.

* * *

Bobby is married and has three children. Diana, seven; Barbara, five, and a baby girl not quite two. They are hard on shoes, need new dresses—and like to eat.

So Bobby ignored tradition and appealed to the state supreme court. The court stunned the stewards by giving them 10 days to answer Bobby's question.

"They've got nothing on me and I want to know why I'm being brushed off," Bobby said. "They just refused my license and put me on the ground and there's no reason for such tactics, particularly when they can get away with it and do it maybe just because they don't like the way you part your hair.

"This is the United States and I've got a right to earn a living."

The bantam Bobby has the heart of a heavyweight and he's doing something that should have been done long ago for the little men in silk.

Crazy Idea Given Okay

Free Fence Offered For Stadium Outfield.

CLEVELAND —(UP)— A temporary fence will be erected in the expanses of the Cleveland stadium —a "crazy idea" to President Alva Bradley of the Cleveland Indians —if the plan meets approval of American league officials.

Bradley, buffeted by complaints of the Indians that hits in any other park are just pop-ups in the wide outfield spaces of the stadium, agreed to a newspaper suggestion to erect a fence, but he won't pay for the experiment.

Sheldon Ferbert, president of the Ferbert Fence company, offered to lend the fence to the club for the experiment. He will erect it and pay all costs for the trial.

"I think it's crazy," Bradley said, "but if Ferbert is willing to erect it at his own expense I'll call his bluff."

* * *

Bradley said the "idea" was tried at Kansas City recently and the public ridiculed the club and the players.

Some players, however, notably Jeff Heath and Ray Mack welcomed the experiment.

League permission to erect the fence will have to be obtained, however, and when that will come no one was certain.

Landis Silent on Talk With Galan

CHICAGO — (UP) — Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis declined today to disclose the nature of his conversation with First Baseman Augie Galan of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Neither would Landis say why he had summoned Galan for the conference yesterday. It was reported, however, that there was no connection between the summons and a fight between Brooklyn and St. Louis players Sunday.

The scuffle was precipitated by Catcher Walker Cooper's alleged attempt to spike Galan.

20-Game Winners Growing

Ten or More Appear Likely To Hit Mark.

By TED MEIER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

THE major leagues may be able to boast of 10 or more 20-game winning pitchers this year compared to only four in 1942.

* * *

Where only Mort Cooper, Johnny Beazley, Ernie Bonham and Tex Hughson were able to make the grade a year ago, five twirlers already seem certain of reaching the coveted 20-game goal with 10 others having better than an even chance.

* * *

Topped by the veteran 35-year-old Rip Sewell of the Pittsburgh Pirates, the National league claims four of the five twirlers virtually certain of winning 20 games. Sewell has won 17 and lost two. Cooper, Cardinal ace, has a record of 15-6. Elmer Riddle of Cincinnati, with 14-5, and Hi Bithorn, of the Cubs, with 13-8, round out the senior loop quartet.

Spud Chandler of the New York Yankees is the only American league pitcher within whistling distance of the charmed circle. He has won 13 and lost three.

Bonham, who won 21 for the Yankees last year, and Hughson, who was credited with 22 for the Boston Red Sox in 1942, each have a chance to repeat. Big Ernie has won 10 and lost five for the Yanks. Hughson has chalked up 11 wins against seven setbacks.

In the "maybe" class may be placed Ray Starr of Cincinnati, 10-8; Claude Passeau of the Cubs, 10-7; Oscar Judd of the Red Sox, 10-6; Alex Carrasquel and Early Wynn of Washington, 10-5 and 11-7, respectively, Jim Bagby and Al Smith of Cleveland, 11-10 and 10-3, respectively; Dizzy Trout of Detroit, 10-9; and Orval Grove of the White Sox, 10-1.

Al Javery of the Boston Braves, Johnny Vander Meer of the Reds, Virgil Trucks of Detroit and Buck Newsom of the Browns have "outside" chances of hitting the 20-game mark. Each has won nine times.

* * *

Pittsburgh came up with four runs in the seventh inning to beat the Phillies, 6 to 2, in the only game played in both leagues yesterday.

The victory tightened the Pirates' grip on second place.

Starts on Second Hundred Victories

CHICAGO —(AP)— Bucky Walters, starting after his second 100 victories as a Cincinnati Red, is the pitcher today as the team opens a three-week tour against the Chicago Cubs.

* * *

Bucky also is after his seventh win of the current year, during which he has lost 11 for the worst season since he came here from the Phillies in 1938. Hiram Bithorn is the Cubs' choice to keep Bucky from improving it.

* * *

The Reds put on a twilight exhibition at nearby Fort Sheridan yesterday, downing the Soldiers, 5 to 0. Ray Starr, Jack Niemes and Joe Beggs held the fort to seven hits and the Reds took advantage of four walks and two errors in the fourth inning to score four of their runs.

'POLITE NO' EXPECTED ON FDR REQUEST

Experts Say Neutrals Won't Promise To Bar Criminals, But May Actually Do It.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Neutral countries to whom President Roosevelt addressed formal diplomatic notes calling upon them to bar Benito Mussolini and other Axis "war criminals" are expected to reply with carefully worded notes of polite refusal, diplomatic experts on international law said today.

The replies, outwardly refusing to comply with the request, however, are expected to be accompanied by a verbal "escape clause" which will permit the countries to stand firmly on their rights under long standing tenets of international law, but without actually offending the United States or the United Nations.

The clue to this "escape clause" was given to International News Service by one well known neutral diplomat whose identity, for obvious reasons, cannot be revealed.

"We will have to consider each case individually," the diplomat said.

Be this, the diplomat meant that his country could stand on its rights under international law to grant sanctuary to political refugees, but could refuse admission into his country of Mussolini, or other Axis leaders, if they requested admittance, on the grounds that they were undesirable and might try to foment a Nazi or Fascist revolution if admitted.

The president's appeal, well informed diplomats candidly stated, is something new in international law and has put the neutral's "on the spot."

The appeal was addressed to Sweden, Spain, Turkey, Portugal, Switzerland, Vatican City and Argentina. The president informed them that if sanctuary was granted Mussolini and "his gang", or any other Axis "war criminals" the action would be "inconsistent with the principals for which the United Nations are fighting."

Nothing like it has ever come up before, diplomatic authorities in Washington said, and it puts the neutrals "between the devil and the deep blue sea."

If they should grant the American executive's request they will incur the wrath of the Axis. If they grant refuge to any of the Axis henchmen that the Allies have branded "war criminals" they will incur the displeasure of the powerful United Nations.

Traffic Mishaps Increases, Arrests Drop During July

Mansfield police made 129 arrests in July, six fewer than in June, but they investigated 10 more traffic accidents last month than during June, the police report showed today.

Despite an increase in the number of traffic accidents from 45 in June to 55 last month, six injuries were reported both months. There was no fatality in the city either month.

Parking citations dropped off in July, police issuing 517 tickets for parking violations as compared with 532 in June. The traffic tickets produced $516 in July, $23 less than in the preceding month.

Fifty of the 129 arrests made in July were for intoxication. Three women were arrested on intoxication charges.

There was only one arrest in July for drunk driving as compared with five in June.

The city jail, however, was busier last month with the cost of prisoners' meals jumping to $181.50 from $161.75 in June.

SOUND APPEAL

WAC Recruiters Say 88 Packets Still To Be Returned.

Mansfield civilian defense block leaders have failed to return 88 packets of questionnaires sent them in the current house-to-house campaign for WAC recruits.

WAC recruiters who have been in Mansfield for two weeks said the packets must be returned to headquarters, basement of the courthouse, before Saturday when recruiters leave Mansfield for another campaign.

Recruiters have been contacting prospective WACs from the information received from the block leaders.

ERROR FOUND IN STORY ON FUNDS

In bidding for council consideration as the depository for active and inactive city funds for the next two years, the Mansfield Savings Trust National bank offered one-fourth of one per cent interest per year on inactive funds and not on active funds as reported in a story in yesterday's News-Journal.

It was pointed out that banks are not permitted to pay interest on active public funds. The amount of inactive funds which would be likely —to draw interest was estimated at $50,000 by the city in requesting bids.

Only other bidder was the Farmers Savings and Trust company which asked only for active funds, setting a maximum of $200,000 on the amount the bank will accept.

GEORGIA O. K.'S 'TEEN-AGE VOTE

Amendment Expected to Influence Congressional Action.

ATLANTA —(AP)— Amendment of Georgia's constitution lowering the legal voting age from 21 to 18 may prompt congress into early action on a proposal which would authorize 'teen-age voting throughout the nation, says Senator Van Nuys (D-Ind.).

While political leaders here speculated on the possibility of granting 18 to 20-year-old boys and girls still further privileges, such as the right to hold office, Senator Van Nuys, in Washington, predicted the results of the Georgia election would have "lots of effect" on the senate judiciary committee which is considering the proposed nation-wide amendment.

DISAGREE ON STREET PLANS

Property Owners at Odds on Type of Improvement For Grover Street.

While there is little likelihood that anything will be done about hard-surfacing Grover street this summer, city council's street committee is faced with a real problem in trying to decide what the property owners on the street want.

Two petitions have been presented to council by the property holders who would have to pay a part of the cost of the paving. One, bearing seven signatures, asks that the street be graded and treated with crushed stone this year and then hard-surfaced next year.

The second petition, which carries nine names, seeks a black-top surface on the street this year.

It's getting late in the season now to start a project and finish it before cold weather, so council's street committee is wondering if there is any advantage in trying to find a solution to the problem this season. The proposed project has been before council for the past two months, but it has never reached the stage where work could be started on short notice.

Council has about decided that it would be better to leave it as it is until next summer then to start the job, get the surface torn up, and then have to halt work until next year.

was alarmed. But when he failed to waken after almost 10 hours, they called a doctor.

The father related that they started back home with the boy asleep at 11:30 a. m. Tuesday. When he was still asleep at 5 p. m., they called a doctor. The child began to awaken at 9 p. m., the father related, and immediately went into convulsions.

He was then taken to the hospital. Examination showed, according to physicians, that the child had consumed at least a pint of wine and the child died without regaining consciousness.

The child was born Feb. 22, 1937, and would have started his second year at St. Peter's school this fall.

Surviving are his parents, a brother Ralph at home, grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Fillutzy of Mansfield and a grandfather, Ralph Bonanata in Italy.

The body will remain at the home until funeral services are conducted at St. Peter's Catholic church Saturday at 10:45 a. m. with Msgr. R. C. Goebel officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield Catholic cemetery.

CATCH ESCAPERS

Police Believe Former O. S. R. Inmates In Partnership.

CLEVELAND —(U.P.)— Police believed today the arrest of two 18-year-old youths had broken up a crime partnership resumed after their escape from Mansfield reformatory.

A tip led to the arrest of Edward Kunas, who escaped from the reformatory July 2, and Alfred Oponowicz, who escaped last Sunday. They had been sentenced together after their conviction for a series of burglaries here.

NO TROUBLE

Red Cross Unit Gets Ration Points, Others Don't.

While Red Cross officials in other Ohio cities were having difficulties today in efforts to obtain ration points to buy meats for lunches served to blood donors, Richland Red Cross officials said they were having no such troubles.

Ration boards in some Ohio cities have ruled that the Red Cross is not an institution and thus is not eligible for rations.

Meat is needed for the sandwiches served to donors after the blood is taken. Coffee, tea or milk is also served.

Red Cross officials here said that the Mansfield ration board has been liberal in allowing them ration points but they did say they are expecting difficulty in obtaining meat.

Donors are not permitted to eat for four hours before giving blood and need the food afterwards, officials explained.

DAMAGE SUIT HEARING OPENS

Injured Man Seeks $5,000 Damages as Result of Auto-Cycle Crash.

Hearing of a $5,000 damage suit brought by Emerson Au against Marion E. Smith opened today in common pleas court.

The suit resulted from an automobile-motorcycle collision Sept. 11, 1942, on the Olivesburg road in which Au alleges he received a fracture of the knee cap, lacerations and bruises. He charges Smith with negligent operation of his car.

Meanwhile today, two other damage suits were settled out of court. A $20,000 damage suit brought to jury by Caroline Mayer against Edward Sutter did not go through complete trial. Long, Anderson, and Green, attorneys for the plaintiff, and G. W. Marriott, attorney for the defendant, told the court the case had been settled to the satisfaction of both parties.

Also settled out of court was the case of John Satterfield of Lexington against the Kroger Grocery and Baking company. The plaintiff was suing the baking company for $5,810.06 in payment for injuries he allegedly sustained when one the company's trucks sideswiped his automobile on Route 42, a mile and a half south of the city April 2, 1943.

Army Reports RFC Has Solved Critical Aluminum Situation

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Jesse Jones' reconstruction finance corporation, recently charged by Vice President Wallace with failing to "stock pile" strategic metals, today was pictured by the war department as having solved the once-critical aluminum situation.

According to the war department, Jones' agency has been so successful in increasing the output of war-vital aluminum and magnesium that the manufacture of plywood air transports has been halted, and the production of all-metal air ships stepped up.

The defense plant corporation, an REC subsidiary, said the federal government now owns nine aluminum plants with an annual output exceeding 1,200,000,000 pounds—more than the total output of all private plants combined.

In addition, it was learned, there are in existence 45 aluminum fabricating plants built and owned by the RFC.

The federal government's war investment in aluminum plants was placed at $760,000,000, and all of this vast sum was expended by the defense plant corporation or the RFC for government account.

Likewise, under RFC guidance, the production of magnesium has been multiplied many times until now private production accounts for only eight per cent of the total. The magnesium expansion program was accomplished through spending $430,000,000 of government funds through the RFC, it was reported.

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA —(INS)—Hollywood's most famous stars would be flattered if they could see the length to which doughboys in Australia go to spend an hour or two before the silver screen

In one American unit the doughboys have to march four miles in battle dress, carrying rifles, to reach the beach. There they embark for the neighboring island where movies are shown once weekly. It's a three hour job getting to the "theater."

drome, indicating a retreat had finally begun

The left flank of the attacking troops moving from the eastern end of the airstrip breached a line of trenches running from the beach on the south to Bibolo hill on the north and moved to a point opposite the center of the field

Meanwhile other troops swarmed over Bibolo hill occupying part of the western slopes and reached the other side of the field Allied bombers supported by fighters laid 45 tons of bombs on the enemy positions and machine gunned strong points in direct aid of the ground forces

Neither the spokesmans report nor MacArthurs communique predicted how soon the garrison at Munda main Japanese base in the central Solomons would be crushed completely

Off Munda American fighter planes shot down 13 of 18 Japanese Zeros that tried to attack U S positions on Rendova island yesterday, losing only two planes, while fighters ranging northward in the Solomons to Shortland island, near Bougainville destroyed seven enemy float-planes, three barges and a cargo vessel in a surprise raid

Australian and American ground forces repulsed a Japanese attack in the Bobdubi area near Salamaua New Guinea on Monday killing 25 of the enemy the communique said in a sharp encounter The same day A 20 attack planes shot up enemy positions in the Timbe bay region and set fires in supply dumps along the Francisco river

Mitchell bombers worked over enemy barge hideouts along Vitiaz strait off New Britain island north of New Guinea as Catalinas and Liberators bombed the Gasmata and Cape Gloucester airdrome areas Mitchells also bombed and strafed villages on Selata island in the Tanimbar group

Jap Guadalcanal forces 40,500

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Japanese losses during the battle for Guadalcanal were placed today at 40 500 men by Col Royal L Gervais of the field artillery in a report to the war department

Gervais who recently returned from the south Pacific said that only 1 000 of a total of 42 000 Japanese troops escaped death or capture by evacuation in boats

Gervais was a field artillery executive officer with an American division and also served as army liaison officer and artillery advisor to marine headquarters in the Matanikau sector

Japs Complain of Allied Air Blows

NEW YORK (INS)—The Tokyo radio complained today that Allied forces are daily intensifying aerial activity over the Munda airbase in the Solomons

The broadcast reported by CBS claimed Jap warplanes engaged 70 Allied fighters over the area yesterday and shot down 25 of them against a loss of only four Nipponese aircraft

An Allied communique said 12 of 18 Zeros which attempted to bomb Rendova island near Munda were shot down by Allied fighters Two Allied planes were lost in the battle the Allied bulletin said

British Eighth Army Sweeps Past Catania

Nazis' Coastal Line Cracked, Allies Surge Ahead In New Battle To Capture Messina.

escape port of Messina, 55 miles north of Catania, and tremendous aerial and sea blows were hammered home in support of the great drive.

British warships rained shells upon the Taormina road and railway midway between Catania and Messina yesterday, giving that exposed communication center what was believed to be its heaviest bombardment yet.

American cruisers and destroyers ranging the northeast coast continued their day and night shelling of German positions ahead of the American Seventh army troops swinging rapidly along the coast beyond San Stefano.

From the air, Allied bombers and fighters swept over enemy communication centers and supply lines to disrupt the German defense. Flying Fortresses again smashed at docks and submarine bases at Naples, in the fourth raid in four days and the "target was well covered by bombs," an air communique reported. (The Italians admitted 159 killed and 228 injured by the raid.)

The battle of Catania ended and the battle for Messina began, for all along the enemy's mountainous bridgehead British and American forces plunged forward for new gains.

The British by their continued bombardments of Taormina acted to paralyze if not cut the Germans' east coast supply—and retreat—route.

The enemy's line of retreat from Catania is a three-mile-wide corridor between the mountains and the sea and in that harsh, rugged strip there are a number of points where he might attempt a stand.

Catania's capture in effect turned the German flank on the east coast and the British surged ahead on the slopes of Mt. Etna facing the sea.

The enemy frantically planted mines and blew up bridges in attempting to stem the inexorable Allied advance.

Catania represented the hardest and bloodiest victory of the entire campaign.

Other Allied units smashing ahead in a flanking movement on the southern Axis line have stormed in bayonet charges to within five miles of the key supply road skirting the western base of Mt. Etna.

Allied troops "continue their advance along the whole front," said the regular daily communique issued by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters.

"The enemy is trying to slow down our advance, leaving behind mines and destroying all installations."

Catania dominates the Catania plain where some of the bitterest fighting of the Sicilian campaign has been raging as the Eighth army hammered against strong minefields and artillery and tank defenses of crack German troops.

The text of the special communique:

"The city of Catania has been in our hands since 8.30 a m this morning.

"It is the British Eighth army which has entered the town."

(A Berlin broadcast recorded by the Associated Press said "Evacuation of Catania by German troops is authoritatively confirmed, the enemy having been misled by a successful maneuver.")

Along the northeast coast, American cruisers and destroyers continued their day and night bombardment of enemy positions in front of the American doughboys, whose fast pace was officially attributed by army commands to this naval cooperation.

The general advance through breaches in the enemy's western flank gained up to six miles yesterday as American, British and Canadian forces drove the bitterly defending Germans from their positions atop craggy hills in hand-to-hand fighting.

In the north, the American army of Lieut.-Gen. George S. Patton, jr., sweeping eastward toward Messina, crashed four miles beyond fallen San Stefano to occupy Caronia and its port, Caronia Marina.

Axis defenders along the coastal route were blasted by American destroyers which pumped shells into defense targets from the battle line to Cape Orlando, 18 miles to the east.

15 Nazi Divisions In North Italy, Report

STOCKHOLM —(AP)— Travelers who left Rome three days ago estimated today that Germany now has approximately 15 to 18 divisions (between 225,000 and 270,000 men) in northern Italy and is moving with incredible speed to increase this concentration of military strength north of the Po river.

Although American bombers recently left the railroad yards at Bologna in shambles, the travelers said, Nazi military engineers quickly restored traffic on the main lines to expedite movement of German troops to strategic centers.

Throughout northern Italy, where the Nazis are feverishly constructing defenses in depth throughout the Po valley, eyewitnesses said they noted strong anti-German feeling expressed in signs, chalked on walls, many of which read, "Germans, get out!"

Adding to the bitterness of the north Italian populace was the discovery by police of huge caches of food in the homes of Fascist party members, many of whom were engaged in black market operations, the travelers declared.

Axis Still Tries To Bolster Sicily

AT AN ADVANCED ALLIED AIR BASE IN SICILY, Aug. 3—(Delayed) —(AP)— Germany and Italy still are making a strong effort to reinforce their forces in Sicily, using gliders as well as small boats of all descriptions, flyers returning from missions reported today.

Pilots said they observed shipping all along the Strait of Messina and beached craft at six specified points.

Catania Targets Found Blasted

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA—(AP)—Precision bombing smashed military targets inside Catania, but left the city itself virtually unscathed, an RAF pilot reported today as British troops entered the vital objective.

All hangars were damaged at the airdrome and one administration building had received a direct hit from a heavy bomb. Some attempt at repairs had been started, then nullified when bombs blew holes in repaired sections.

The railway switching yards were pitted with craters from heavy bombs and two large sheds were gutted.

Some of the new port facilities which will be valuable for Allied shipping were almost untouched by high explosives.

Naples Hit By 4th Raid In 4 Days

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA —(AP)— American Flying Fortresses engulfed bomb-torn Naples in another flood of high explosives yesterday in the fourth Allied raid against the southern Italian seaport in four days.

The four-engined bombers slashed at docks and submarine bases and left the target "well covered with bombs," headquarters said. One merchant ship was left ablaze.

RUSSIANS TAKE OREL FROM FOE

Berlin Admits Evacuation of Key Fortified City on Central Front.

city after destroying everything of value.)

The Russian announcement that the city's inner defenses had cracked after 24 days of savage fighting, during which Soviet armored units, infantry and cavalry stormed them from three directions, listed vast stores of ammunition and guns as captured.

More than 2,500 Germans were killed and 18 enemy tanks were knocked out as the Germans fought bitterly and even counter-attacked in desperate attempts to check the Red army masses pouring into the city's streets, a Soviet communique said.

Orel, which had a normal population of 91,000, had been fortified extensively with the hedge-hog system of defense since it was occupied by the German army on Oct. 8, 1941. It is the hinge and key defense position of the long south-central German line extending to the Sea of Azov, and its recapture would open vital railway lines linking the Ukraine with Moscow.

(The Berlin radio's announcement did not state the extent of the German withdrawal, but the next position of importance is Bryansk, 80 miles to the west. The Germans had only one remaining rail link between Orel and Bryansk, and the Russian column advancing from the north already had been reported within five miles of that line, holding it well within artillery range.)

The Russians also reported new successes at Belgorod, 165 miles south of Orel, where they said they smashed ahead for gains up to six miles and improved their positions.

(In London, it was generally believed Orel's fall would have an immediate and far-reaching effect on German morale, which has already suffered this summer from Allied victories in Sicily, the Italian crisis, and intensified Allied aerial attacks on German industrial cities.)

Nazi Army Faced With Grave Ordeal

LONDON —(INS)— Disorganization of German communications which permitted the Russians to storm into Orel means that a vast force of Nazi troops is faced with an ordeal perhaps worse than anything that previously has beset the German army, Exchange Telegraph reported from Moscow today.

Under ceaseless Russian blows the Germans were said to be withdrawing from all sectors, leaving a trail of wrecked Tiger tanks.

Land torpedoes which are a new weapon mounted on weird low-slung carriages, are being sent rumbling toward the Russian lines by the retiring Germans. Soviet sniper are exploding the torpedoes with rifle fire.

Mosquitoes 'Bite' Ruhr, Rhineland

LONDON —(INS)— Speedy light Mosquito bombers of the Royal Air Force last night bombed objectives in both the Ruhr and Rhineland industrial areas of Germany while British naval planes attacked a pack of Nazi motor torpedo boats off Calais, France, the air ministry announced today.

Three of the group of vessels caught off Calais were sunk and a fourth seriously damaged.

One pilot of the force of naval planes operated under the RAF fighter command claimed he sank two of the E-boats. None of the British planes was lost.

Nazis Acknowledge New Blow In South

BERLIN —(By Official German Wireless) —(INS)— "Violent Russian attacks" north of Kuibyshevo in the Mius river sector of the southern front in Russia were acknowledged in today's communique by the German high command.

The bulletin also described "bitter, fluctuating defensive battles" in the Belgorod salient.

Only Church Hit In Rome Raid

Accuracy of the 500 U. S. bombers that attacked Rome was so great that only one of the many religious edifices in the "Eternal City" was badly damaged by the explosives. Ruins of that one building, the Basilica of San Lorenzo, are pictured above as the debris was being cleared away. It is located near the railroad yards which were the main target. OWI radiophoto.

ELECTION BOARD CASE DROPPED

Hummel Dismisses Charges Against Mahoning Men.

COLUMBUS —(U P)— Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel today had dismissed charges filed against two Mahoning county board of election members by J. W. Cannon, of Youngstown, a candidate for the mayoralty nomination.

Cannon failed to prove charges, Hummel said, that John W. Powers, board clerk, and John Vitullo, board member, used the election board office as headquarters in attempting to further the campaign of J. W. O'Neill, another candidate for the Democratic mayoralty nomination.

Hummel warned, however, against members of boards of election in using their offices in partisan election activities.

2 WEEKS LEFT

Treasurer Says $400,000 In Taxes Remain Unpaid.

With the Aug. 20 deadline for paying the second half of 1942 real estate tax bills just two weeks away, County Treasurer Charles Payne said today nearly $400,000 is yet to be collected.

Though collections have slowed up during the past week, Payne said he is still hopeful of 100 per cent collection of the $691,843.70 owed the county in real estate taxes and special assessments.

According to the treasurer, $301,575 has already been collected. He warned property owners that a penalty of an additional 10 per cent will be levied against late taxpayers.

You'll Have Coal For Heat Unless 'If's' Go Wrong

WASHINGTON —(AP)— U. S. householders dependent on coal heat will be bug-snug this winter, if two big "ifs" on which the coal program is based don't become official headaches, D. C. Speaker reported today.

"If" the present rate of coal production is maintained, and "if" the weather in the 1943-44 heating season is no colder for no longer period than the abnormally severe and protracted 1942-43 winter, home heating coal supplies will be at least 90 per cent of 1942-43 consumption, Speaker said.

"The attitude of key men in the office of the solid fuels coordinator is jittery optimism," the unofficial authority continued, "they know there'll be icicles in the bathroom if production falls off for any reason, and a bad weather break could mean chilblains in the parlor."

ITALIAN PEACE HOPE STIRRED

Government Weighs Measures Today; Proposals To Make Country Neutral Seen.

cabinet held last Tuesday "have been interpreted in many capitals as a prelude to an eventual armistice."

The newspaper said the position of Italy and her Allies was "very fluid and very dangerous" in a moment when "the voices of the diplomats should be raised."

The Corriere Della Sera declared that thoughts of liberty and war dominated Italian minds today, adding that "many have awaited, during these unforgettable days, clearer words, and so are able to receive without excessive fear and without shame the thought of coming peace."

There was little news of disturbances in Italy early today, but reports from frontier towns said that half-hour strikes were continuing in Milan and in factories in other industrial cities in northern Italy as a protest against the government's insistence that the war must be continued.

Reported from Rome today was establishment of a commission to investigate the riches that Fascist officeholders were reported to have acquired between Oct. 22, 1922 and July 14, 1943, during the reign of Fascism. Fortunes irregularly obtained, it was said, will be confiscated by the state.

The possibility was seen that one of the hardest hit might be Galeazzo Ciano, Benito Mussolini's son-in-law, and former foreign minister, Ciano reputedly is one of the richest men in Italy.

King Refuses To Give Up Mussolini

MADRID —(AP)—King Vittorio Emanuele of Italy politely but firmly turned down a request by Adolf Hitler that Benito Mussolini be handed over to the Germans for safekeeping following his fall from power, it was reported here today.

The king's refusal was given to Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering, who was sent to Rome by Hitler last week to find out why Mussolini was deposed, travelers from the Italian capital said.

Goering was reported to have told the king that Hitler feared Mussolini's life was in danger as long as he remained in Italy.

He's a Good Actor.

Gig Young, who got his best screen chance as Nancy Coleman's sweetheart in "The Gay Sisters," now at the Ritz, has a scene in which he carries a tray full of dishes. Young did it with finesse and despatch. "That was excellent," the director commented. "I wish," said Young, "a couple of my ex-bosses could hear you say that. I used to be a car-hop at a drive-in, and a waiter in a night spot here in Hollywood—and I got fired from each place." Co-attraction is "A Night of Terror" starring Ann Harding and Basil Rathbone.

Crime Doctor.

You've heard the Sunday night radio program, "Crime Doctor," and now you have a chance to see it on the screen for the first time. "Crime Doctor," starring Warner Baxter. Baxter is seen as the well known Dr. Robert Ordway. Margaret Lindsay plays the part of Grace Fielding. In the supporting cast are John Litel, Ray Collins, Harold Huber, Don Costello, Leon Ames, Constance Worth, Dorothy Tree and Vi Athens. Co-attraction also brings to the screen a popular radio program. The Bumsteads are featured in "It's a Great Life." Penny Singleton plays Blondie; Arthur Lake, Dagwood; Larry Simms, Alexander, and Marjorie Ann Mutchie, Cookie.

posal if the "deplorable conditions are not remedied."

The health commissioner said he was just as interested in "cleaning up some of the retail markets" where he said the had seen rats running over meat supplies in the store basements.

Conditions were so unsanitary in a slaughter house in the southern party of the county that it was almost impossible to enter the building without becoming ill, but the meat was still being sold in Mansfield, Dr. Wild said.

2 BOUND OVER

Boy, 20, Girl, 19, Plead Guilty To Robbery Charges.

James M. Lucas, 20, Bellaire, O., and his 19-year-old companion, Mary Elizabeth Lucas of Hudson, O., were held to the county grand jury today under $2,000 bond after they pleaded guilty in municipal court this morning to robbery charges.

Detectives who arrested the pair Tuesday on East Fourth street said the couple claimed to be man and wife, but they were unable to prove they had been married.

Officers said the pair confessed robbing Steve Browitz, 71 East Fourth street, of $95 the night of July 24 after luring him to a secluded place in the north end of the city.

HEALTH GAINS IN ENGLAND DESPITE WAR

Simple Diet, Employment Are Main Factors, Medical Chief Says.

(By International News Service)

LONDON — The health of the people of Britain is today steadily increasing, in spite of four years of wartime diet.

Such is the opinion of Sir Wilson Jameson, chief medical officer of the ministry of health, who attributes the improvement in the nation's health to a number of factors.

"Everybody capable of employment is employed," he said. "People get more money, and although they may be uncomfortable in certain ways, they can afford things that they might not have been able to afford before the war.

"Another factor is that we have a very much simpler diet. People curse the national loaf and the vegetables, they growl about everything all day long, and they say the food is not tasty. Despite this we have been fed in a healthy manner.

"Whether we like the diet or not, it is healthy. In normal times English people ate far too much meat. There has been a considerable reduction in the amount of sugar consumed, and as young people have not been able to chew sweetstuffs all day long they eat what is put in front of them."

The infant mortality rate in Britain for the first quarter of 1943—Sir Wilson estimated about 60 deaths of children under one year old per 1,000—was the lowest ever recorded for the first quarter.

Milk priority for mothers and young children has played an important part in this reduction.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, AUGUST 5, 1943.

Leisure is another of the things that might well be more equally distributed.

Now's the time for Hitler to read "the handwriting on the wall"—while there's still a wall.

Senator Walsh of Massachusetts says the navy is "a man's organization," but such exclusiveness seems to be out of accord with the modern trend.

Time for Congress To Get Busy

NOW THAT senators and representatives have had several weeks for rest, relaxation, and talks with "the folks back home," there seems little justification for delay until September 14 in getting back to work on vital tax legislation needed to produce the additional billions of dollars for which President Roosevelt is calling.

Under congressional methods of considering various proposals and eventually reaching a compromise agreement, it is probable that several months will be required to work out a tax plan that will bring in the necessary billions without imposing too serious hardships on a considerable percentage of taxpayers.

A number of suggestions have already been offered, with mention again being made of a federal sales tax of possibly 10 per cent, but an important consideration, as Chairman Doughton of the house ways and means committee points out, is "protection of millions of persons in the fixed income class"—those who have no excess earnings to be "drained off."

One idea is that a sales tax on all except essential commodities might be given a "savings" angle by issuing sales tax receipt slips which would be convertible into a form of non-negotiable bonds that could not be cashed until after the war.

In view of the immense amount of work to be done, mid-August would seem a better time for congress to get back to work than mid-September.

And anyhow, long vacations are not considered good form this year.

Airport Project Moving Ahead

BELIEF expressed by Mayor Locke that land needed for proposed expansion of the Mansfield airport can be secured without resort of court action indicates possibility that no delay will be encountered in meeting the city's share in providing adequate modern airport facilities in this area.

It will be the desire, of course, to fairly compensate landowners for the property required for this public improvement and it may be hoped that satisfactory agreements can be reached without need for condemnation proceedings.

Council's authorization of the mayor, service-safety director and city engineer to proceed with negotiations for the land, coupled with an appropriation to meet costs of the services of an experienced and capable person to make surveys and confer with owners, evidences intention to proceed in a logical way toward readiness for start of actual work on the project by the Civil Aeronautics Authority early next year, as planned.

Vendors Approve Midnight Closing

SEARCHERS for information on the subject of remedies for juvenile delinquency are likely to be impressed by action of the Salem Liquor Dealers association in approving a midnight closing order for all liquor sales places in that city and in voting to prohibit the sale of beer on Sunday.

This followed a recent report to council that police favored stricter regulations for liquor sales places rather than a curfew ordinance.

Another interesting bit of information is that, according to a Ninth district court of appeals decision, responsibility rests on the cafe owner for selling liquor to a minor.

Mansfield has an unenforced midnight closing ordinance which can be put into effect at any time the administration deems it advisable. There is also an old ordinance which makes it unlawful "for any person to loiter or loaf about any saloon, eating-house, tavern," etc., or "about any street, alley, or other public place . . .," which might be made to serve in authorizing police officers to inquire into reasons for children in the lower teen-age doing these very things.

Illegal operation of slot machines and other gambling devices in places customarily frequented by children might also be investigated as obvious contributors to juvenile delinquency.

Nature's Use for Grazing Land

THERE is small comfort for vegetarians in an article printed by the Shorthorn World, a publication devoted to beef cattle. It points out the national food problem involved in the fact that three-fourths of this country is useless for cultivation. Obvious use of non-tillable land is for grazing purposes, and hence arises a great meat industry. Says the magazine:

"If all the land in the United States could be used for the production of grain, and if the grain could be grown without straw or fodder, and if in growing it in that manner the soil would not be depleted of its fertility, there might be some excuse for the plan of feeding us all grain, vegetables and fruits. But farmers realize that a very large per cent of the product of the soil is not suitable for human consumption until it has been converted to meat or milk through animals.

"No thinking person would minimize the value of dairy cattle in the production of human food. The minerals, vitamins, proteins and fats in milk, butter and cheese, are vital to human health. But so are these when produced by beef cattle, and in a system of diversified farming beef animals fit in better than perhaps any others. The cow that is rearing her own calf, and the heifers, may be turned into pastures during the farmer's busiest season of the year, and require practically no care. In the Corn Belt, from the time of planting in early May, through June and July harvests and into the corn harvest in the fall, many herds of this type subsist entirely on pasture."

And thence come the juicy steaks and rich roasts on which city people are fed. But no doubt ardent vegetarians will also have an argument.

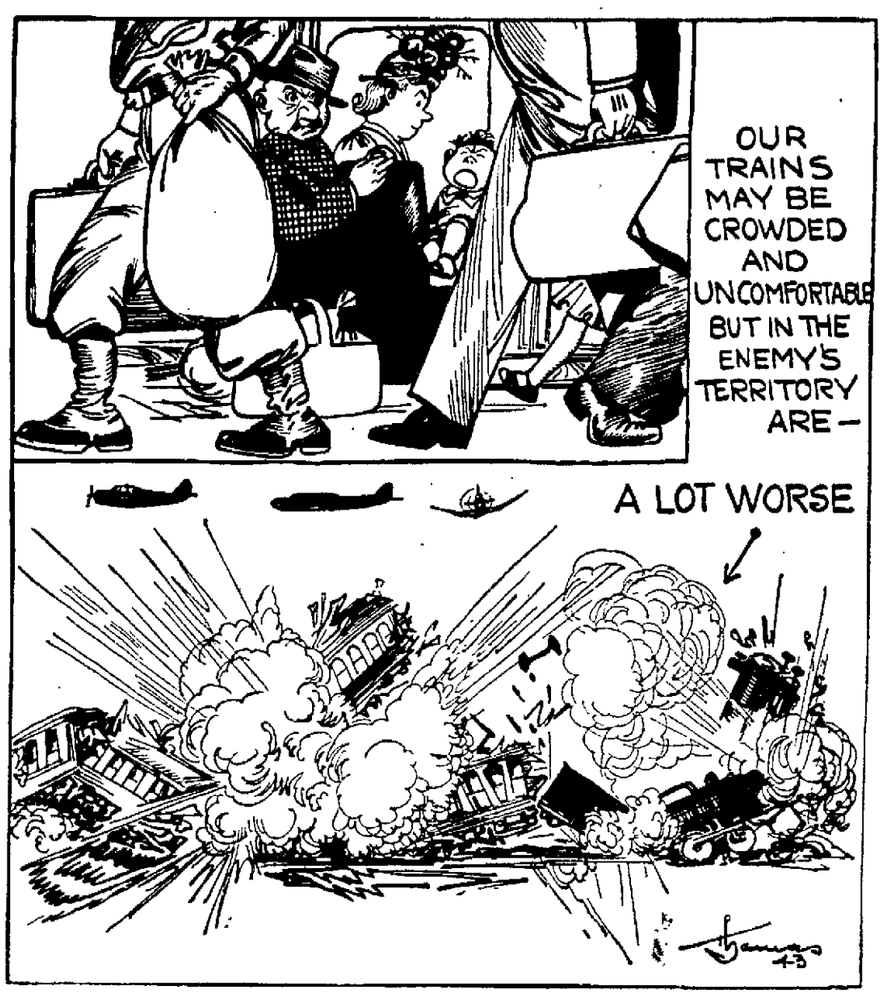
Scarcity of $10.000 bills is reported by the treasury—and the suggestion seems in order that war workers keep bills of that denomination in circulation by exchanging them for War Bonds.

A Columbia professor says an excess of oxalic acid makes spinach unfit for human consumption—and won't Popeye be surprised!

Next year will be Leap Year—but need for any such encouragement seems to have passed.

Summer is a good time to fill coal bins.

DISCOMFORTS OF TRAVEL



Speed Aerial Bombardment as 'Experiment' for Ending War

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

THE WAY things now look in the European laboratory of war, the Allied bombing of Germany and occupied territory may be the agent which will precipitate victory.

This isn't to say that victory depends solely on air-power, for many elements are contributing to the Axis downfall which surely and steadily is approaching. Still, the aerial bombardment is having a terrific and perhaps decisive effect on the Germans.

Dispatches to Swiss and Swedish newspapers from their correspondents give a composite picture of a Germany which is enduring such terrors that "nobody knows how long the population will be able to endure it." The undreamed of striking-power being shown by the Allied air navies has convinced the reich that a new phase of the war has been opened.

One Stockholm dispatch describes the bombing as having an effect similar to that of the Allied naval blockade in 1918, when the morale of the German people cracked because of hunger and other privations.

That's an intensely interesting statement, especially since the fatherland of the last war collapsed without enduring the horrors of bombardment. The weight of trouble which caused the people to quit in 1918 isn't a speck on the moon to what they shortly will be getting from the cumulative effect of Allied bombing.

The bombardment serves the double purpose of destroying war resources and of so disrupting communications as to put many parts of the country on short rations. Thus it's a much more devastating weapon than the naval blockade.

ONLY so far back as May 19 British Premier Churchill announced to a joint session of the senate and house in Washington that the Allies were about to undertake the historic experiment of trying to bomb Germany and Italy into impotency. That's less than three months ago—a very short time to show big results in such a vast undertaking, which must depend on cumulative destruction.

Since then Allied bombers have blazed the trail for a Sicilian invasion which is forging to success. If Marshal Badoglio persists in his suicidal resistance, it's not unlikely that bombing will force the collapse of the Italian mainland even before the Allies invade it.

We have only now arrived at the time when we might expect a yell from the boche if the experiment was going well. We finally have drawn that yell by a steady destruction of industries, supply centers, submarine and shipping bases, and communications by rail and highway. Resistance by the Nazi airforce has decreased as our devastation has multiplied.

The Allied bombing operations have been aimed at military strangulation but obviously the civilian population has had to suffer. The casualty roll in many cities has been heavy, but it has remained for the wholesale assault on the great port of Hamburg to make Germany realize the awfulness of the steadily growing power which has been unleashed.

One Danish consular official is quoted in Copenhagen as estimating that 200,000 people have been killed in Hamburg. It would be well to accept that figure with reserve, but the police of the ruined city are said to place the killed, wounded and missing at 30,500.

The continued assault on Hamburg has given rise to the idea that the Allies are bent on total destruction of the city, and that other metropolitan centers of military importance will follow. The Germans themselves have jumped to the conclusion that Berlin is next on the list, and a partial evacuation is underway.

So the Allied bombing experiment is going places. Both German military resources and civilian morale have been dealt heavy blows.

Perhaps one of the severest shocks Hitler has been given is the destruction caused in the Rumanian oil field by American Fortresses. He has been depending on Rumania for perhaps half his slender supply of oil, and any considerable loss in these resources would represent a major catastrophe.

'Russia Fights'

WHAT'S a Russian? How does he think and feel? What gives him pleasure and dismay? Is he sub or super human?

We read and hear about Russia every hour of the day. And yet to the great majority of Americans the Russian is as mysterious a creature as the denisons of darkest Africa.

There are so many things which are Russia. Ragged, vermin-ridden peasants standing before filthy huts, staring with brutish, ignorant eyes, using medieval methods to till their meager farms. That's one picture of Russia. Or there's that slinking horror, the Communist, armed with oily talk and sabotage. Or the incongruous picture of magnificent formal Russian banquets. Or twinkling ballerina dancing under front line fire.

And above all the amazing fact that the most privileged person in Russia apart from the bureaucrats, are artists—writers, dramatists, actors, who earn as much as $20,000 a year and possess country homes and imported automobiles and fabulous wardrobes.

All of which adds up to what? All of which adds up to a vast bewilderment and a dark suspicion in the American mind which even the best writers have been unable to dispel.

For these writers have given us each in his turn his own particular version of Russia plus his own personal reaction, which is as futile and unfair as if you tried to compare a Vermont Republican with a wild west cowboy.

But now comes a writer who really gives a picture of Russia AS IS—every side of Russia from spangled toe dancer to blood spattered front line fighter—and gives it the plain, simple language which Americans understand and—believe. The man who does this is James E. Brown and the book is "Russia Fights" recently published by Scribner's.

Of it Joseph E. Davies, former American ambassador to the Soviet Union, says: "I urge every American to read Russia Fights . . . Mr. Brown answers the questions which people are asking. A passionate believer in democracy, he holds no brief for the Soviet political system but he tells us frankly that it has brought great benefit to Russia. He believes as I do that we must work with the Soviet Union after the war and that our different methods of government need be no obstacle to that co-operation."

It needs no oratory to convince us that the Russian soldier is as tough and brave a fighter as the world has ever seen. But what lies behind him? What sustains his faith? In what soil does his courage root?

James Brown gives the answer to all these questions. Here, in the most quiet language, are plain facts which will wreck a thousand fantastic illusions. In the first place Russia isn't a communistic country as most of us believe. Some analysts report that its communistic membership numbers as low as one percent of the total population.

Certain it is that communism is playing little part at the present time. The Russians are out to lick the Germans. That is the one prevailing thought in every Russian mind and heart and although Russia speaks 75 different languages and is composed of as many different bloods, they are all united in that sole purpose—KILL THE NAZIS.

But they are not only bent on killing the Nazis with tanks, bayonets, guns and planes. Such death, they know, would be only temporary. The beast would rise again. They must kill those things which create nazism in any human flesh and so throughout Russia, from the arctic igloos to the Black Sea, in schools, in laboratories, in homes however humble, Russia is fighting the ignorance and beastiality which made this war possible.

It's an amazing book—more amazing because the writer is not a propagandist, doesn't even advocate the Russian way of life for any other people. But you cannot understand this war until you have read that picture.

ODD FACT

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Excessive Caution of Badoglio Accounts for Rise of Fascism

(The Brass Ring—plastic for the duration—good for one free ride on the Washington Merry-Go-Round, is awarded today to the new premier of Italy.)

WASHINGTON—Pietro Badoglio, the man who tried to pick up the broken pieces of Italy where Mussolini dropped them, will go down in history for his blind devotion to his king and for his inability to make up his mind when the fate of his country hung in the balance.

Twice in two decades, Badoglio could have changed the entire course of his country and perhaps the world. But each time he hesitated and failed.

The first was when he was chief of staff in 1922 and Mussolini staged his march on Rome. Weeks before that march, Mussolini's Fascists had been getting arms and ammunition from the Italian army right under Badoglio's nose. He must have known about it, unless he was asleep, and he does not sleep soundly.

Even retired arm officers, still answerable to Badoglio, were enlisting in the Fascist cause. He could have check-reined them easily.

March on Rome.

WHEN the march on Rome finally was consummated, and Benito Mussolini stepped out of his special sleeping car (after his Blackshirts had made it safe for him to enter the capital) Badaglio sent word to the king that he could easily drive them out of Rome with two regiments.

But the king hesitated, and Badoglio hesitated with him. A few days later it was too late.

Badoglio's second tragic moment of hesitation came last week. He and the king at last had the courage to oust the man who had cowed Italy, who had led the Italian people to destruction.

But having taken that one bold step, the new premier of Italy waited. True, he faced a tragically complicated situation. German troops in the north could make a battleground of Italian soil. But also he knew that the invincible might of Allied air power could make mince-meat of Italian cities and that the Allied armies, already in their stride, were sure to overrun Italy.

That moment of hesitation may mean Italy will be an even bloodier battleground and that the surge of Allied victory may be slowed.

But Badoglio has spent his life as a professional soldier and caution is his watchword, even when empires are at stake.

Human "Bombs."

JUST as Mussolini was always sticking out his chin, Badaglio has always pulled his in. As governor of Libya in 1929, he stood by while Marshal Graziani, the rabid Fascist, subdued Arab natives by taking rebel chieftains up in an airplane and tossing them out on the desert below.

By this time Badaglio had swallowed his early revulsion against Fascism, and, following his king, had accepted Mussolini's tempting offer of field marshal of the Italian army.

Inside the Italian army there has always been jealousy between the political Blackshirts and the non-Fascist regulars. So when Mussolini launched his armada of tanks and airplanes against defenseless Ethiopia he placed one of his Blackshirts, General De Bono, in command.

De Bono was a complete flop and Badaglio, from the regular army, was called to the rescue. In the field of battle, Badaglio does not hesitate. He is an A-1 technical soldier. He cleaned up the Ethiopian war in short order—and he did not hesitate to use gas to do it.

After Badoglio was quite willing to receive from the hands of Il Duce the title of Duke of Addis Ababa with the lush salary that went with it. Badoglio also swallowed his pride and his anti-Fascist leanings sufficiently to become chief of all the armies.

Army Unprepared.

AS SUCH he was supposed to prepare for war, which any one could see from the rantings of Italy's Axis partner in Berlin, was just around the corner. But the Italian army lapsed into such a state of unpreparedness and poor morale that when Mussolini finally did decide to stab France in the back, Italian troops made only minor gains against an already defeated French army.

Badoglio has been both blamed and exonerated for the Italian fiasco in Greece. The truth is that he did not want to undertake this campaign, warned Mussolini that the army was not ready. By this time, also Badoglio's latent hatred of Fascism, deluged under all his Fascist honors, had come to the fore again.

Friends say that he resented both the French stab in the back and the attack on Greece. But he did not protest publicly. Finally he was yanked back from the Greek campaign, discharged by Mussolini, and for a time friends feared for his life. It was then that his old friend the king held out a sheltering wing and invited him to live in the imperial palace.

A Timid Statesman.

WHAT transpired between these two close friends during the three years that followed may never be known unless some palace chronicler writes the story. But it leaked out and was published in this column that Badoglio seethed with hatred against Mussolini, even hoped to lead the regular Italian army against him.

Two weeks ago, the time finally came. Badoglio and the king, to whom he had always been so loyal, struck their first independent, courageous blow for Italy. But Badoglio, a good soldier, but a timid statesman, struck out.

Joe is a black-haired, straight-shouldered southerner from Columbus, Ga. In civil life he was a photographer on the Columbus Ledger-Inquirer. The last big story he photographed was Eddie Rickenbacker's crash near Atlanta. Joe has been married four years. His wife works in a Columbus store.

This is his second time in the navy. He was in it from 1931 to 1935, and he has been in two years this time. He has no intention of making it a career. He has one great postwar ambition—he says he's going to do it in the first six months after he gets out. He's going to buy a cabin cruiser big enough for four, get another couple, and cruise down the Chattahochee river to the Gulf of Mexico, then up the Suwanee, making photos of the whole thing in color.

TOM TEMPLE. His full name is Thomas Nicholas Temple. His father deliberately put in the middle name so his initials would make TNT. Tom is only 19. He is tall and thin, and very grave and analytical. He talks so slowly you think sometimes he's going to stop altogether. After the war he wants to go to Harvard and then get into the publishing business. Tom's mother is a high-school teacher at Far Rockaway, L. I., and writes on the side. She used to write for Story magazine under the name of Jean Temple.

Tom's father was wounded in the last war. He is now in the big veterans' hospital at Albuquerque, only a short way from my home.

Tom says when he first came into the navy the sailors' profanity shocked him, but now it rolls off his back like water off a duck. Tom is a seaman second class. He is very sincere and thoughtful and one of my favorites aboard ship.

* * *

JOE EDERER. He is a lieutenant commander and chief engineer of the ship, and he was my part-time host while I was aboard, since I did all my writing in his cabin. Furthermore, I ate his candy, smoked his cigarets, used his paper, and would have read his mail if I could have found it.

Commander Ederer has been at sea for more than a quarter of a century. He is out of the merchant service, and he indulges in constant pleasant feuds with his regular navy friends.

His home is in Portland, Ore. His wife is used to waiting, so his absence is not as hard on her as it is on many wives. They have a 15-year-old boy upon whom the chief engineer dotes. He has two pictures of his family on his shelves.

Ederer is one of the very few officers of this ship who are genuine salts. He is not exactly a Colin Glencannon, but they have many things in common. Ederer spent many years on the Orient run and has a personal hatred for the Japs. He has been with his present ship ever since she was commissioned two years ago, and he hopes this part of the war soon gets over so he can get to the Pacific.

Like all sailors he wants some day to get five acres, preferably in the Oregon woods, build a cabin and have "a crick running past his door." If he ever did he'd probably go nuts.

"We may wake up some morning to find victory in our laps," Jim says. But I'd advise looking on our laps for the long rather than the short term possibilities.

"Out of the trenches by Christmas," is a bad slogan to adopt just now when there's a dangerous tendency to slacken up on the war effort anyhow.

A Farmer's Diary

By CALVIN A. BYERS

No Cellar Door

WHEN I read that vegetables can be dehydrated and compressed so that a half-inch cube will furnish enough tomatoes, beets, milk, fruit juice or leafy vegetables for a family of five, by simply adding water—I remember grandmother's cellar.

Grandmother did not read any book on diet—she never heard of a vitamin—yet she kept her family in splendid health. Three of my uncles, my father and grandfather lived beyond their 80th year.

Grandmother's home—like many in our Cove—was built by the head of a limestone spring. We crossed on a bridge of boards from the yard to the summer kitchen. Her cellar was a delight and a mystery to childish eyes—and it still is so. By the front wall a neatly chipped limestone, a part of the spring flowed through in a channel a foot deep. Often I saw trout or cels swimming in the clear water.

The earthen floor was always damp and cool. Grandmother had earthen crocks of milk, with clean wooden lids. The cream was yellow and thick. A skimmer hung on a peg. Here she cooled fresh wild black and raspberries, summer apples and her new-churned butter. A narrow stone protruded from the wall half across the little stream where a small oil lamp would set.

In winter, cabbage heads were on a suspended shelf, potatoes in small boxes and crates of choice apples. There was always a keg of vinegar made from "water cider;" jugs of elderberry wine; bottles of grape juice from the vineyard. She packed beets in an open barrel, each layer buried in moist sand; turnips and rutabagas in similar fashion.

Cellars, even in the country, are different now. They make convenient storage for coal and wood, adjacent to the furnace; or maybe a children's play room in winter months. Modern refrigerators in modern kitchens will leave, I know, tasty memories of food well cooked, ice cream and frozen puddings for modern children. Cellars are outmoded; unnecessary; a needless waste of space.

But things go so fast, these days! Some of us like to linger in memory of grandmothers' old-fashioned, odorous food storage even while we gaze in awe at cubes of vital energy-giving rations packed in moisture proof, sealed cartons upon a shelf.

What will children of the future do for a cellar door?

QUESTIONS OPA HAS TO ANSWER MOST OFTEN

They Cover Everything From Rent To Shoes and Ceiling Prices.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — The Office of Price Administration compiled today a list of questions most frequently asked and set down the answers. Here they are:

Q. My B book expires August 31 and I have only four coupons in it. Can I obtain additional gasoline for a 350-mile vacation trip into the east?

A. No. War price and rationing boards are not authorized to give "extra" gasoline for vacation trips; motorists can take these trips only on their existing rations. Thus A book holders have a maximum non-occupational ration of 480 miles for a two-month period, and B and C book holders have 180 miles.

Q. Can a butcher force a customer to buy items such as cold cuts, tripe, etc., in order to obtain a retail cut of beef?

A. No. This is definitely not permitted and OPA asks all housewives to report such violations to their local war price and rationing boards.

Q. Is a rent increase permitted in all cases where there has been a substantial increase in the services, furniture, furnishings or equipment provided with the housing accommodations since June 1, 1942?

A. Not in all cases. No increase in the maximum rent shall be ordered unless the increase occurred with the consent of the tenant or while the accommodations were vacant, provided, however, that an adjustment may be ordered, even though the tenant refuses to consent to the increase if it is determined that such increase is reasonably required for the operation of a multiple dwelling structure or other structure of which the accommodations are a part, or if the increase is necessary for the preservation or maintenance of the accommodations.

Q. I returned shoes I wore only twice to my dealer and, though he will give me a new pair in exchange, he demands another stamp. Is this correct?

A. Yes. Only new shoes may be exchanged without stamps for new shoes. A worn shoe is not considered a new shoe. If the shoe was defective and not a misfit and was returned within 30 days after purchase, the dealer can give you a statement indicating that you have returned such shoes to him. If this statement is properly presented to your local war price and rationing board, a special shoe stamp will be issued to you.

Q. How long is the special shoe stamp good?

A. For thirty days after the date of issue.

Q. What is the ceiling price on cabbage?

A. The highest legal price at retail is 6 cents per pound.

Q. I hold only an A book. Am I entitled to new tires?

A. No. Motorists with A books, unless their cars are used for occupational purposes, are only permitted recapping service and new tubes.

Q. Shouldn't a retail meat market have the retail ceiling price chart on display?

A. Yes, each retail market must have the retail ceiling price chart on display. Moreover, it is important that this chart be displayed in a manner such that it may be easily read by all customers in the market.

Q. Is there a ceiling price on meals served on trains?

A. Yes, standardized "economy" meals are provided at 85 cents for breakfast, $1 for lunch, and $1.10 dinner. Other a la carte meals, including alcoholic beverages, are frozen at the highest prices charged during the February 1-April 10, 1943, base period.

Q. In applying at my war price and rationing board for my 35 pounds of canning sugar, now that I have used the 10 pounds obtained with stamps No. 15 and 16, will I be allowed sugar for making jelly?

A. Yes, because of butter scarcity, OPA this year has made it possible to obtain five pounds of sugar per person for making jams, jellies, preserves, and fruit butter. This five pounds is included in the total of 25 pounds available for canning purposes: 10 pounds through stamps 15 and 16, and 15 pounds by application at your local war price and rationing board.

Q. Has a retail price been established for fresh berries?

A. Effective July 29, the retail price for fresh berries is as follows: Red raspberries 38 cents a quart; black raspberries, 35 cents; youngberries, boysenberries, loganberries, and blackberries, 33 cents; and gooseberries, 26 cents a quart.

Q. I am a nurse's aide. Can I get a stamp for extra shoes for this work?

A. Yes, if you have no stamps in your family that you can use. If there are stamps available in your family you are required to use them for any shoes you may need. After all your family's stamps are used, if you need shoes, application may be made to your local war price and rationing board.

G. Can a garage increase it's rates for public parking or storage of automobiles?

A. No. Under maximum price regulation No. 165, a garage or parking place should not charge more than the rates charged to the public in March, 1942, for the same service to a customer of the same class.

Q. Are dentists' or doctors' fees covered by price control?

A. No Professional services, such as those performed by doctors and dentists, are at present exempted from price control.

WEST LAFAYETTE SCENE OF CHURCH WEDDING

Miss Elizabeth Joyce Hertel of Mansfield Becomes Bride of Wilton George Morkel of Cleveland Heights.

AMID a gathering of friends and relatives, Miss Elizabeth Joyce Hertel exchanged nuptial vows with Wilton George Morkel of Cleveland Heights, former Mansfield man, yesterday in West Lafayette. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd A. Hertel, 96 West Second street, and her bridegroom chose West Lafayette as the scene of their wedding since Rev. E. G. Corwin, former Mansfield pastor, was vacationing there.

The quiet service was read at 11 a. m. before the altar of the First Methodist church. Organist was Mrs. Olyn Hull of Crestline, whose selections were "Indian Love Call," "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and the wedding marches. During the ceremony "I Love You Truly" was softly played.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a pale blue silk frock of street length with white accessories. She carried a bouquet of Talisman roses and blue delphinium. Miss Dona Gamble of Van Wert, cousin of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a street length dress of pale yellow and carried a bouquet of pink roses and dark blue delphinium. She also wore a string of pearls, a gift from the bride.

Robert Tobias of Mansfield was best man for Mr. Morkel, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Morkel of Cleveland Heights, also former Mansfielders.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Hertel wore a navy blue sheer frock with white accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Morkel's dress was black with white accessories and she were gardenias.

The bridal party returned to Mansfield following the service for a wedding dinner at the Hartel home. Later open house was held there for friends and relatives.

Late in the day the couple left on a wedding trip, the destination unannounced. For traveling the new Mrs. Morkel wore a green jersey ensemble with luggage accessories.

The bride was graduated from Madison high school and attended Baldwin-Wallace college. She is employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. Morkel, an aviation cadet at Ottumwa, Ia., was formerly employed by the Tappan Stove company. He was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school and attended Miami university. The bride will reside here for the present.

Continue Series Of Parties for Miss Mengert

Miss Ruth Mengert, bride-elect of Boyd Stull, was honored last evening at another in the series of pre-nuptial parties given for her. Hostesses were Miss Jessie Bryner, 211 South Foster street, and Mrs. Vernon Smeltzer.

The 12 guests in attendance spent the evening making a bride's book after which refreshments were served at small tables decorated in a yellow and white color scheme. The group surprised Miss Mengert with a shower of miscellaneous gifts.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHAT COULD HE HAVE?

You must give your opponents credit for having some sense. To base your defense against their contract on the idea that one of them had bid with practically nothing in his hand will not pay very consistent dividends. You will be better off generally to consider that the other fellow probably had about the same strength you would have required if you had made the same bid he did. By using tactics which have a chance to work against good opponents, you are not giving yourself the worst of it.

Imagining North's double betokened a desire to ruff diamonds, South led the J of his own suit. Seeing that he figured to take three tricks with his own top cards and counting on his partner for some defensive ability, North decided that his partner might have the spade A; if so, he could set the contract an additional trick with a diamond ruff.

So, when the declarer played low on the diamond lead, North came in with his A and returned the 3. Imagine his chagrin when the declarer, after winning this with dummy's K, was able to drop the hostile trumps in two rounds, saving two in the dummy to ruff clubs. As a consequence, all that the declarer lost was three tricks, two in clubs and only one in diamonds.

If North had given East credit for a little soundness, he would have realized that the spade A was almost surely in the declarer's hand, and that his own diamond A had better be kept to knock off the K. Had he done that, and played low on the opening lead, nothing in the world could have prevented East from losing two tricks in each minor. Treating East as a fellow who would bid on nothing cost North's side about 500 points.

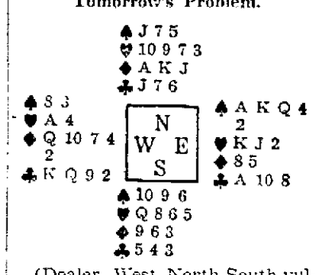
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer, West. North-South vulnerable.)

If East bids spades twice, West diamonds and then clubs, and East finally 3-No Trumps, what suits ordinarily would be considered the best and worst to lead?

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"Good!" Dicky approved. "I don't think there's a chance of your having to use it, but if you do, don't have any qualms about that pole cat."

"I shan't hesitate if I see she's dangerous," I told him. "And now I must be getting back."

I found Ruth Hayes still standing in her doorway, her face like the proverbial thunder cloud. "You weren't so worried about your precious rooms on the other side when the man next door called!" she said tauntingly.

Has Her Orders.

"I have my orders, Madam," I said meekly, "to drop everything and run when he calls. He's sick and he's a special friend of the manager's, and he never keeps me long, and—"

"Will you stop that chatter and get in here?" she demanded furiously, stepping back into her room, and with something of the sensation of seeing the jaws of a trap close, I followed her inside.

"How many rooms do you have to care for?" she began.

"I have this wing, Madam," I said. "Eighteen rooms."

"Are they all filled?"

"No, Madam. Not today. This is an off day. I only have my regulars, and a few others, yourself, the sick man next door and three others."

"Do your regulars come back before night?"

"Very seldom, Madam. Sometimes they come in for luncheon, but not very often. But I have to have their rooms done before noon, so if they should come in, they'd find them ready."

"You needn't fidget!" she snapped. "I'm pretty nearly through with you. Who are these three others? Transients?"

"Yes, Madam," I replied.

"Men or women?"

"All three men."

"Are they in their rooms now?"

"Yes, Madam. They've got 'Do not disturb' signs on their doors. They came in together last night, had dinner together downstairs and went out."

"Sleeping it off, I suppose," she commented.

"I wouldn't know, Madam," I said demurely.

"Don't be impertinent!" she stormed, "or I'll report you. Now let me get this straight. There is no other woman on the floor except me?"

"No, Madam."

"Well if another one should check in, I want to know about it at once. Come straight to me and tell me. Do you hear?"

"Oh, Madam!" I registered consternation. "I wouldn't be allowed to do that without the housekeeper gave me permission!"

"You abysmal idiot!" she said. "Here! Will this change your mind?"

Offers a Bribe.

She whirled, snatched up her purse, opened it, and thrust a ten dollar bill into my hands.

I handed it back to her, and when she would not take it, let it drop to the floor.

"I'm not that kind, Madam," I said with dignity. "Anthing I can tell you without disobeying rules, I'll do. But I won't be taking a bribe from anybody."

"Regular plaster saint, aren't you?" she sneered. "And yet you're afraid to look anybody in the eyes! That's a sure sign you've got something somewhere to be ashamed of. Now you look me straight in the eyes and answer me one more question, and you may go."

Black Frocks Again Popular For Fall Season

By KAY DANIELS

Sun tanning has increased as a popular summer pastime. With bare arms prominent in sleeveless frocks and short sleeved dresses, it becomes almost a beauty necessity. Then, too, white is lovely with a bronzed skin, and white clothes, notwithstanding the laundry problem, are worn in Jersanese, pique, shatungs of Celanese rayon, and fabrics of sharkskin weaves.

Bare legs are no longer surprising on city streets, and they do solve a woman's problem if she can't find enough sheer stockings. Natural, sun-tanned legs are generally more attractive than the tinted variety; although tinted legs, when carefully done, can be quite flattering. Incidentally, dry cleaners are sounding the warning that sun-tan lotions should be used before dressing and allowed to dry thoroughly, because discolorations on clothes resulting from these lotions may be difficult to remove

Because there are fewer places to wear play clothes and dirndl fashions, this type of dress is slowly merging into the daytime picture, and New York was never so cosmopolitan in its fashion aspect. A young woman may look very Spanish in a black skirt and sheer white blouse with carnations in her hair, or she may wear something Chinese, like the new straight chemise of green satin side fastened from neck to hem with crocheted frongs, which stop somewhere above the knee to reveal a tiny aperture of leg.

Plenty of cotton dresses with baby necklines are worn as well as bright colored checked ginghams. Shirtwaist frocks are dressed up with modish looking hats. Much black is worn with pink roses.

One of the hottest days brought out many black dresses for town wear. Cleaner delays have to be faced nowadays, and that condition is making the black dress an all-time filler. The stores are full af them—dresses of black sheer crepes and black Jersanese, suits of spun type linen weaves, rayon shantungs of Celanese and black faille.

ARRID

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, August 6.

With such a breathtaking and thrilling chain of planetary configurations, almost any extravagance of prediction might be happily discounted. Events, adventures and situations unpredictable, and unprecedented are probable. While there is this sign of skyrocket and explosive precipitancy there are also sound and logical auguries and justifications. All in all it is a time for reaching for the highest goals, with all the acumen and skill possible, but there should be sound, safe and sane preparations should a dramatic windfall suddenly materialize. Financial success, promotion, public acclaim, romance and adventure in all phases of human life are likely to eventuate. Accept what the planetry gods send with balance as well as gratitude.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a memorable year of dramatic, thrilling and possibly unprecedented adventures, romances and experiences out of the ordinary or unexpected. Promotion, honors, favors, publicity, social or professional fulfilments, sustained by the solid values of increased credit, financial expansion, and many objective realizations. These should be sought for with efficiency skill, talent and the utilization of personality, charm and power.

A child born on this day may be exceptionally fitted for the attainment of high place and power in life, through its own worldly equipment as well as by its innate qualities of mind and temperament.

CHROME CARE

Salt air affects chrome-plated articles. To preserve these parts apply a thin protective coating of furniture wax after washing and drying. Chrome-plated parts are often found on automobiles, porch and yard furniture, plant stands and other articles about the house.

REGULAR MEETING.

Mrs. Claude Phipps, 143 Hedges street, was hostess last evening to members of the Past Pocahontas association for a picnic supper in the yard. Twenty were present. Following the business session five hundred and bunco were the diversions with prizes won by Mrs. Elizabeth Croskey and Mrs. Mary Somers. The next meeting will be held Sept. 1 at the home of Mrs. Fred Ammeter, Lexington avenue road, for a corn roast at 6 p. m.

Senior Regent Installed at Lodge Meeting

Mrs. A. K. Ricks was elected and installed as senior regent of the Women of the Moose at a special session held last evening at the Moose home. She succeeds Mrs. John Stentz, who recently resigned. Mrs. Harry Donley, junior regent, presided and Mrs. Ray Underwood was the installing officer.

Sixty-nine were present. Plans were made to entertain Mrs. Frank LaBell, wife of the supreme governor of the Moose lodge, when she visits here next Tuesday. The event will be a dinner party in charge of Mrs. Fred Roth, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Margery Peppard, Mrs. Steve Jacha and Mrs. Lester Raby.

During the business session reports were given by the standing committees and by Mrs. Raby, who was a delegate to the Ohio conference of the Women of the Moose held last week in Columbus. The next regular meeting will be held at the Moose home, Aug. 18.

Tri Kappas Hold Election at Meet

Mrs. Obed Crownover, jr., was elected president of the Kappa Kappa Kappa sorority at a meeting held this week at the home of Mrs. Weldon Spurgeon, 356 West Fourth street. Other officers for the coming year include Miss Monoka Spurgeon, vice president; Miss Nora Anna Geddes, treasurer; Mrs. Clifford Bennett, secretary; Mrs. Spurgeon, corresponding secretary, and Mrs Milton Weidner, historian.

Mrs. Alex Schwaner was chosen chairman for the formal installation to be held Monday, Aug. 16, the place to be announced later. Date of the next social meeting will also be decided at a later time.

Officers Honor O. F. Garver at Party at Park

O. F. Garver, assistant superintendent of the Ohio State reformatory, was pleasantly surprised and honored last evening when officers of the institution and their families met for a party at the Prospect park pavilion. The event was given in recognition of Garver's 40 years of service with the reformatory.

One hundred and 25 were in attendance and officers presented him with a gift. A large cake decorated with the inscription, "'Pop' Garver—40 years' service," centered the long table.

During the evening short talks were given by a group of retired officers. The remainder of the time was spent socially.

PROTECT FURNITURE

Dry heat in summer and damp heat in winter can loosen joints, detach veneer and cause wood to furniture to warp or crack. Oil or polish applied occasionally will seal the pores and help to preserve the wood.

LAHM CO-AUTHOR OF BOOK NOW AT CITY'S LIBRARY

'How Our Army Grew Wings' Among New Volumes To Be Released Saturday.

Mansfielders will be interested to know that a one-time resident, Frank P. Lahm, brigadier general in the United States army, now retired, is the co-author of a new book on aviation to be released Saturday at the Mansfield Public library.

HOW OUR ARMY GREW WINGS by Charles deForest Chandler and General Lahm is a history of airmen and aircraft prior to 1914. The book was started by Colonel Chandler and completed after his death by Gen. Lahm. The latter is particularly well qualified to write such a book because he himself played an important part in the development of aviation in this country. In 1905 when Lahm was living in Paris an incident occurred which Mansfielders may remember. He had heard vague reports that the Wright brothers had flown successfully in a heavier-than-air machine. He cabled to a brother-in-law in Mansfield as follows: "Verify what Wright brothers claim, necessary go to Dayton, prompt response cable." "How Our Army Grew Wings" was presented to the library by William M. Weldon, sr.

TUCKER'S PEOPLE by Ira Wolfert, author of "Battle for the Solomons," is a first novel about the "numbers" lottery in New York, and the people who operate it and who are operated by it—and the grim and sordid social consequences. Its real interest lies in the human beings it presents—their relations to each other and their struggles against insecurity, failure, and alienation in the competitive and unstable milieu of the great depression of the 1930's.

SUPPER AT MAXWELL HOUSE by Alfred L. Crabb is a continuation of the author's "Dinner at Belmont." The present volume pictures Nashville during the reconstruction and gives a sympathetic portrayal of the impoverished southern gentry's efforts to rebuild its culture. Some of the characters appeared in the earlier novel but this story can easily be read alone. The main theme is Weaver Cole's determination to regain Kingsley, the family home. Kingsley is owned by a Yankee whose daughter Merrie falls in love with Weaver.

SPRING FLIGHT by William Maier is a romantic and appealing story set against the background of Cape Cod. It is the story of the coming of age of a modern girl who had a will of her own. Nineteen-year-old Debby, an active girl who loves the Cape with true feeling, scarcely realizes how attractive she is until she has all but involved herself in an unfortunate situation. Happily, however, her "spring flight" is not one that leads to any real trouble.

OTHER FICTION: NIGHT DUTY, Arey; HUNTER'S MOON, Miller; DOCTORS BEWARE, McCully.

In 1932 Vanya Oakes went to the Orient as roving correspondent whose beat extended from Java to Mongolia, from Peking to Singapore. For ten years she watched from behind the scenes, while Japan set in motion her plans for conquest. In her dramatic book, WHITE MAN'S FOLLY, Miss Oakes tells not only of her own adventures but also what happened and why it happened.

Dropped from a bomber in the jungle of New Guinea, Vern Haughland, A. P. correspondent, wandered for 42 days before he reached an Allied base. LETTER FROM NEW GUINEA is an account of that incredible journey—it tells of days in the jungle, the [illegible] of starvation, the endless fight to surmount just one [illegible]ountain. This is not a book about war or battles, but one of the most moving human documents the war has produced—the story of a man's spiritual recovery.

IS GERMANY INCURABLE? by Richard M. Brickner, M.D. is an entirely different approach to Germany and the Germans. Dr. Brickner, an eminent practicing neuropsychiatrist and assistant professor at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia university, proves that German culture has shown paranoid tendencies for generations. His book is a thoughtful, carefully conceived, scientifically sound diagnosis of Germany and a practical answer to the question posed by its title.

OTHER NON-FICTION: THE FIGHTING SOUTH, Graves; BENCHLEY BESIDE HIMSELF, Benchley; HISTORY OF BIGOTRY IN THE UNITED STATES, Myers; HOW TO NAVIGATE TODAY, Hart; THE FINE ART OF LIVING TOGETHER, Beaven; GENERAL ENTOMOLOGY, Frost; THE FLAG OF THE UNITED STATES, Quaife; ECONOMIC MINERAL DEPOSITS, Bateman; FOUNDRY WORK, Stimpson and Gray; PLANS FOR WORLD PEACE THROUGH SIX CENTURIES, Hemleben.

CONSTIPATED?
Don't Force! Don't Strain Thus Risking Hemorrhoids

Here's one right and proper way to moisten hard dry passages and secure more gentle "easy" movements. 15 minutes before breakfast, drink a glass of hot water to which one teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts has been added. While you are eating breakfast the hot water and Kruschen will be feeding moisture to those hard, dry passages. They become soft, moist, easier to expel. No need to strain and thus risk painful rectal irritation. Usually within 30 minutes wastes are expelled smoothly and gently. You feel gloriously fresh again.

Take only as directed. Try Kruschen for 5 days for you can so regulate the dose as to bring about that "easy" movement such as you have long desired. Don't delay — you can get Kruschen Salts at any drug store. Muir's Cut Rate Drug Store—Adv

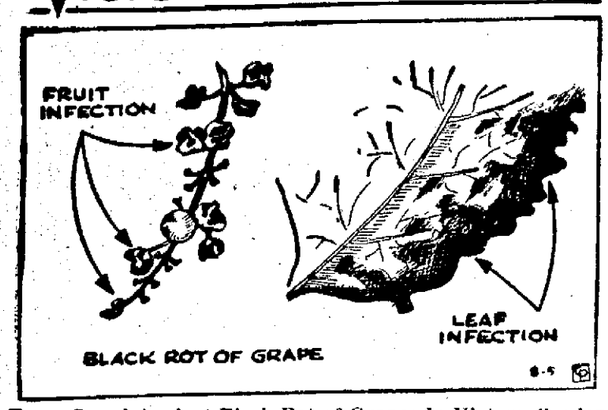
Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH



Be on Guard Against Black Rot of Grapes In Victory Garden.

By DEAN HALLIDAY
(Released by Central Press Assn.)

VICTORY gardeners, who after waiting anxiously for their grapes to come into bearing, find that many of the fruits are shriveled and "mummified" should suspect the troubles to be black rot.

Black rot is the most destructive fungus disease of grapes, for it directly attacks and destroys the berries as well as causing tell-tale spotting of the leaves.

Although the black rot fungus lives over winter in shriviled, mummified, rotted fruit and puts out a crop of spores to infest new growth in the spring, the inexperienced Victory gardener may not have noticed the disease until he inspects the grapes prior to harvesting and discovers the diseased berries, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph. The leaf infection is also illustrated.

If Victory garden grapes are found this fall to be infected with black rot, one must be prepared to battle it by removing all infected berries from the vines and off the ground and burning them.

In the spring, prepare for a siege of spraying with Bordeaux mixture. Four to five Bordeaux sprays should be applied as follows: first spraying when the new growth on the vines is about one-half inch long, and the remaining sprays when the growth is eight to 12 inches, after blossom-fall, 10 days later and two weeks later. Spraying for black rot, if done carefully, will control it.

Powdery mildew, another disease of grapes, appears in late summer as a fine white coating on the upper sides of the leaves, but appears too late to do serious damage.

BUILD WAR TOWN

JOHNSVILLE, Pa.—(INS)—Ground for a 1,200-unit war housing project has been broken in Warminister Township, Bucks county, to provide for a new "village" of 5,000 population, nearly double thes ize of nearby Hatboro.

The project is for employes of the Brewster Aeronautical Corporation's Johnsville division and when completed will be a complete community, including stores, waterworks and a school accommodating 600 pupils.

PACK 'EM IN

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA —(INS)— An entertainment unit of American and Australian servicemen is packing 'em in every night at jungle "theaters" here: Included in the cast are First Lieut. Leo Herzog, of Galveston, Texas, who danced in Hellzapoppin; Sergt. Milton Bauterberg, of Milwaukee, who played with Horace Heidt's band; and Staff Sergt. Harvey Long, of Seattle, Wash., former West Coast professional magician.

POST EXCHANGE IN LONDON DOES TREMENDOUS BUSINESS

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Eight months ago Lieut. Lee V. Dolan came to London, fresh from the Post Exchange Officers Training school at Fort George G. Meade, Md.

Upon his arrival, Lieut. Dolan, whose home is at 3130 Raleigh Avenue, Normont, Pittsburgh, Pa., opened the first Army Post Exchange in London.

Initially, the London PX, as service men call it, was established in a tiny alley garage, where for some two months, with a staff of a few enlisted men, the army store supplied cigarets, chocolate bars and other items to the officers and men on duty here.

From its humble beginning, the London PX flourished and grew, and soon moved into an imposing three-story building on one of London's main commercial streets.

With the success of his efforts apparent, Lieut. Dolan was made Sales Operations Officer of the London Command, and Lieut. Kaufman Katz, of Baltimore, Md., and Staff Sgt. Fred Brown, of Scotch Road, Trenton, N. J., were assigned as assistants.

As the number of troops stationed in and about London grew, the operations of the PX expanded. Today there are three additional sales stores in daily operation, and some 20 soldiers and 25 British civilians give their entire time to the business.

Most of the British civilians employed by the American stores are wives of British service men. Two of the young women who dispense cigarets, cookies, lighter flints and other necessities are members of noble families.

Every one of the young women employed behind the counters of the PX is delighted iwth her job. They enjoy the free and easy approach of the Americans, although they confess that the first few days of "Hi Babe" and "Hi Sugar" had their heads in a whirl.

Every item on sale in the store is rationed. Cigaret rations range from five to 12 packets a week. Cookies are available in quantities of one to three packages weekly.
